Permanent Breakdown Is Unlikely

Allied Statement Made Amid New Charges by Reds That Neutrality Violated by UN

Contact Is Kept

Reds Haven't Answered Ridgway, but Keep Touch via Protests

Tokyo, Aug. 31 (AP)—An allied spokesman said today "there is no indication that there will be a permanent breakdown" in truce talks to end the Korean War.

The spokesman made the statement amid a welter of new Communist charges that United Nations forces violated the Kaesong neutral zone in Korea.

The UN command began an immediate investigation of the new complaints. There were three of them. All previous charges have been denied.

At Munsan, advance headquarters in Korea of UN truce negotiators, Major James MacMaster told newsmen there was no sign of a final breakdown in the talks.

The allied spokesman amplified his statement only by referring to the announced UN willingness to resume talks whenever the Reds are ready. Communists broke them off eight days ago.

Other sources observed that neither side wants to assume responsibility for renewing full scale warfare.

Contact Is Kept

While the Reds have not answered Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's offer to resume negotiations, they maintained official contact between truce delegations by the mere act of filing new protests.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist negotiator, protested to Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the UN delegation, that an allied plane dropped a flare over Kaesong Wednesday morning.

Nam Il called it an "unbridled, unrepentant, provocative act." He demanded that "the culprits be severely punished." The Red general told Joy "the record * * * proves that you are the reckless and unscrupulous breaker of agreements."

A Red liaison officer who delivered the note to an allied liaison officer lodged verbal protests that UN infantrymen twice violated the neutral zone.

MacMaster said the U. S. Fifth Air Force and Eighth Army promptly began investigating the charges.

Answers Accusations

He said the UN command "had answered all the previous Communist accusations and denied all of them.

"They haven't produced one violation for which we are responsible.

"If we did violate the zone, we would take disciplinary action."

MacMaster said "we can't judge the motives" of the Communists in filing a seemingly endless series of charges of neutrality violations. But he suggested:

"The Communists may be trying to build up a record of manufactured incidents by the UN command to make us look bad in the face of the world.

"We made them look bad on two previous occasions."

On these occasions the talks were suspended by the UN command until the Reds withdrew armed troops from the Kaesong neutral area and after a company of armed Chinese soldiers marched near the building in Kaesong where negotiations were being conducted.

In Similar Phraseology

Red charges that the UN also violated the neutrality zone followed. Their complaints included some phraseology markedly similar to that used by the Allies.

In his charge that a flare was dropped near the conference site, Nam Il said "this is another obviously illegal act of provocation."

He said Allied "military aircraft have continuously intruded" on

Direction Avoided

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Senate Crime Investigating committee in its final report today made no attempt to link former Mayor William O'Dwyer directly with the gangster syndicates which operate in New York city.

It confined itself to a factual recitation of testimony from O'Dwyer's intimates.

This was in sharp contrast to the committee's report several months ago which aimed directly at O'Dwyer in stinging language. Today's report repeatedly mentioned him impersonally — mentioning gangsters as his friends.

NavyPlane Sets 'Top' 14.5 Miles

El Segundo, Calif., Aug. 31 (AP)—A navy rocket-powered airplane has shattered all altitude records, climbing to what aviation experts unofficially believe was 77,674 feet (more than 14½ miles). It levelled off at 1,300 miles an hour.

The supersonic flight in the needle-nose Douglas Skyrocket ship was made Aug. 15 from Edwards Air Force base. The exact altitude reached by the Douglas test pilot, Bill Bridgeman, was not disclosed.

Marvin Miles, Los Angeles Times aviation editor, estimated the altitude at 77,674 feet. He said that at a "planned altitude, Bridgeman levelled the Skyrocket off to obtain high speed performance data that may have sent the research craft whipping through space at speeds faster than 1,300 m.p.h."

Balloonists Hold Record

The officially-recognized world altitude record is 72,395 feet, set by two balloonists, Army Capts. Albert W. Stevens and Orville A. Anderson. The officially accepted speed records is 670.981 m.p.h. set in 1948 by a North American F-86. The accepted piloted aircraft altitude record is 59,445 feet, set March 23, 1948, by British Test Pilot John Cunningham in a Vampire jet.

Bridgeman's plane was dropped from the bomb bay of a Super-Fortress at 35,000 feet and he immediately cut in the four powerful rocket tubes to curve upward in front of the bomber.

At 63,000 feet, Bridgeman's blood would have boiled had the Skyrocket's cabin not been pressurized. He wore a special new high altitude flying suit with a "fishbowl" helmet for protection in case the pressurization failed.

Could Have Seen Curve

Bridgeman could have seen the vast curve of the earth had he had time to look, but he worked tensely in the cramped little cabin, scanning he wide range of his instrument panel.

Regardless of the exact height reached, Bridgeman could have taken the plane even higher, said E. H. Heinemann, Douglas chief engineer at the El Segundo plant, "if he had decided to fly a missile-like trajectory or hold the plane vertically toward the heavens."

The flight plan for the test called instead for an operation that would provide the maximum safety for pilot and plane.

The Skyrocket has a wing span of 25 feet, is 40 feet long and weighs 15,000 pounds.

Report Is Final One By Senators

Information Cites Ways Communities Are Held Captive by Twin Evils in Nation

Narcotics Are Hit

Trafficking in Capital Cited; Blame Placed on Gangsters

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Senate Crime Investigating Committee called on cities across the land today to band together in a war on organized crime and grafting public officials.

In a final report to the Senate on its sensational 15-months-long inquiry, the committee told of "captive communities" held in bondage by the twin evils.

The committee goes out of existence at midnight tonight. But it strongly urged that Congress carry on the crusade and that with federal help only at the start a privately-financed national crime coordinating council be created to keep "the searchlight of public vigilance turned upon crime and corruption."

The committee aimed stinging thrusts at Florida's Governor Fuller Warren and, by indirection, at William O'Dwyer, ambassador to Mexico and former Mayor of New York.

Possible Pivotal Point

The report also pictured Washington, the nation's capital, as a possible "pivotal point for gambling operations of considerable size." There is evidence, too, the committee said, "of widespread traffic in narcotic drugs" in the District of Columbia.

The group recommended a new Senate committee make a "thorough investigation" of crime conditions here, especially any tie-ups between criminal elements in the capital and adjoining areas.

The committee denounced "a startling increase" in drug addiction among the nation's teen-age youth, described dramatically at its televised hearings. It placed the blame on the same gangland which, it charged, runs "the lucrative field of illegal gambling, often operating under corrupt official sanction."

Are Deeply Rooted

The evils it described, the report said, were found to be as deeply rooted in the medium sized cities as in the big ones, and named some names to back its point.

To help bring every weapon into action against criminals, the committee called for federal legislation to permit wiretapping by Federal agents. With proper safeguards, it said tapping of phone lines would not encroach upon the privacy of the honest citizen.

"Wiretapping is a powerful tool in the hands of law-enforcement officers," the report said. "Federal agents are seriously handicapped in their regular enforcement work by the legal restrictions which presently surround this valuable instrument of investigation."

Raps Governor Warren

The report rapped Governor Warren of Florida for "persistent refusal" to testify under oath in the committee's inquiry into Florida underworld. The committee charged that Florida gambling "is controlled by interstate syndicates and unsavory associates of men in high office."

"Throughout the Florida testimony," the report added, "the name of Governor Warren cropped up frequently in questionable connections."

Unlike an earlier report, which aimed directly at O'Dwyer in biting language, this one referred to him impersonally in reciting testimony that mentioned names of gangsters as among the friends of the former mayor.

Could Be Contribution

In calling for unrelentigg war on the underworld the committee said the proposed national crime council could be a "great contribution toward the cause of law enforcement."

Behind this group, the report said, should be privately organized local crime commissions throwing their weight into the fight and keeping alive a public demand for cleanup.

The time for the step is ripe, it declared, because "everywhere"

Johnston Sees Disaster Unless Rules Are Changed

Three Restrictions Are Evil, He Says, and Should Be Removed

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston told Congress today the nation faces costly and possibly disastrous consequences unless three restrictions on the price control program are ripped out of the law books.

He was the third of the nation's economic high command to go before the Senate Banking Committee to argue for repeal of three amendments to the controls laws which have been in effect only one month. Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson and Price Director Michael V. DiSalle testified yesterday.

Several members of the committee told Wilson and DiSalle immediate repeal is out of the question. They did not close the door on possible modification.

One of the amendments President Truman and his stabilization lieutenants want removed would let a seller pass on to the consumer all increases in costs between the start of the Korean war and last July 26.

Would Allow Margins

A second would allow wholesalers and retailers the customary percentage margins of profit they enjoyed before the Korean war.

A third would bar federal slaughtering quotas on livestock.

Johnston, in a prepared statement, labeled all three "big, gaping holes in our economic defenses."

"If the act stands," he declared, "prices will have to go up —unnecessarily. Wages will have to go up — unnecessarily. The costs of rearming will go up — unnecessarily. The dollar will sink in value—unnecessarily."

They Mean Trouble

These consequences, he said, spell trouble all down the line.

Johnston said that in amending the control law, Congress left in a mandate to prevent inflation from wrecking the nation's economy, but took away the author-

Tillson Boy Is Drowning Victim

Rosendale Man Finds Body Floating in Rondout Creek

Harold Swehla, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swehla of Tillson, drowned while swimming in the Rondout creek at Rosendale on Thursday afternoon.

The boy's body was pulled from the creek behind St. Peter's Church in Rosendale by Kevin Gaffney of that village. Gaffney told authorities he was swimming with his child when he noticed young Swehla's body floating face down in the swimming area about 2:30 p. m.

Bloomington Fire Department was notified and two volunteers, Fred Sauer and Fred Von Ahnen, responded with the department's inhalator. Efforts to revive the boy were without success, however, and he was pronounced dead by Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale.

John Heitzman and Clarence Wolfersteig also responded with the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation emergency truck.

Authorities Informed

State police and the sheriff's office were also informed of the drowning and investigation was made by Trooper Michael Devine and Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the state police sub-station at Kingston, and by County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro of the sheriff's department.

Harold Swehla's body was identified by a brother, Floyd.

Coroner Michael A. Galietta has given a verdict of accidental death by drowning.

The body was turned over to the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, where friends may call anytime until Saturday noon. Funeral services will be held at the Tillson Reformed Church on Saturday, September 1, at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Rosendale Plains Cemetery.

Harold Swehla is survived by his parents, Henry and Elsie Buley Swehla; two brothers, Floyd and Roy Swehla, and his grandmother, Mrs. Viola Swehla.

400 Taxpayers Attend Meeting

Meeting Called to Explain Re-Assessment Plan to Residents

Approximately 400 taxpayers of the town of Esopus attended a meeting Thursday night at the town hall in Port Ewen at the invitation of Reupen Gullian, councilman, and Henry Cameron, supervisor.

The meeting was called to explain the re-assessment program which is under fire by the Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc.

Henry Cameron, supervisor, explained to those present that the re-assessment program was undertaken after town officials were informed in the spring of 1949 that the township's state rate for special franchise purposes had been cut from 44 per cent to 17 per cent. He pointed out that the town attempted at a hearing in Albany to secure a better rate, but was unsuccessful.

'Fundamental Reasons'

"This is the fundamental reason why we undertook such a program. Namely, to correct inequalities in the town and to get our state equalization rate up again where it belongs," Cameron said. He noted that the county increased the equalization rate for Esopus from 41 to 73 since

Cooler Weather Is Labor Day Promise

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—The weatherman smiled on Labor Day vacationers today and said cool weather was in prospect for the holiday weekend.

He predicted temperatures in the state would drop tomorrow and remain in the mid 70's over the long weekend.

A cold front was expected to move into the western part of the state late this afternoon, driving thundershowers before it.

Jewel Probe Is Continued; Husband Defends Woman

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—Police were extending their investigation today into alleged jewelry thefts by a Long Island society matron.

Police said they had found a pair of diamond earrings valued at $1,200, part of the loot from a jewelry robbery, in the home of attractive, blonde Mrs. Ethel Jones Taylor, 25, of New Hyde Park.

This followed, police said yesterday an admission by Mrs. Taylor on Tuesday that she had taken jewels valued at $10,000 from the home of a friend and neighbor.

Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, chief of Nassau county detectives, said a search of Mrs. Taylor's home with the help of her husband, John, turned up the earrings.

They have been identified, police said, as belonging to Mrs. J. L. (Charlene) Wrightsman, of Houston, Texas.

She is said to be the daughter of Charles Bierer Wrightsman, president of the Standard Oil Co. of Kansas.

She is the former wife of movie actor Helmut Dantine and resumed her maiden name following her divorce last year.

Some $5,300 in jewels, including the earrings, were stolen July 4 from the home of Mrs. J. J. Hope in fashionable Tuxedo Park, where the Taylors were house guests at that time.

Pinnell said that most of the

'Down Under' Delegates to Sign Defense Pact Saturday With U. S.

San Francisco, Aug. 31 (AP)—A 39-man Russian delegation saw America from Pullman car windows today as envoys from four dozen nations headed for San Francisco and next week's Japanese Peace Treaty Conference.

New Zealand and Australian delegates were already here. They are to sign a mutual defense pact with the U. S. at the Presidio of San Francisco, historic army post, tomorrow.

The Russians, headed by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, are to arrive tomorrow.

They will be housed in a palatial mansion in suburban Hillsborough. Most delegations are arriving by plane and staying in downtown hotels.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the United States delegation are to arrive at 5:55 p. m. (7:55 p. m., EST) today aboard a chartered United Airliner.

Efforts to Settle Strike Go on Despite Truman

Red Koreans Move to Front

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 31 (AP)—Thousands of North Korean troops were reported today moving toward the front in hilly eastern Korea. Savage fighting has been in progress there more than two weeks.

Yesterday and last night, allied planes ripped into these reinforcements, into their highway supply convoys and the railroads feeding down to Communist front lines all across Korea.

Allies supplied their own front line troops with the biggest air drop in two months. Thirty-six flying box cars parachuted 110 tons of ammunition, rations and medical supplies yesterday to troops battling high in the mountains of eastern Korea. Rain swollen streams and muddy roads cut off truck routes.

Observations Are Made

A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer today reported the following new observations of Communist troops in eastern Korea:

A fresh division, about 8,000 men, digging in west of the coastal city of Kansong, 25 miles north of Parallel 38.

About 2,000 Reds moving south toward Yanggu, a city eight miles north of 38 and 35 miles inland from the east coast. Allied planes roared down and attacked this group.

Two other groups of 5,000 Reds each in camouflaged positions west of Kansong and north of Inje. Allied military fired on these concentrations yesterday.

All Are North Koreans

The staff officer said all the new Reds presumably are North Koreans. In the past, large Communist drives have been spearheaded by Chinese Reds.

Allied troops repulsed four Communist probing attacks north of Yanggu yesterday.

A Far East Air Forces summary Friday reported heavy attacks on the Reds' main railways, leaving many sections in

President Issues His Order to Set T-H Law in Motion; Name Three

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Efforts to settle the wage dispute which has shut down most of the nation's copper industry continued today despite an initial step by President Truman to obtain a back-to-work order from the courts.

The President issued an executive order late last night to put the emergency machinery of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act in motion in a strike for the first time in 20 months.

The strike, which Mr. Truman earlier termed a serious threat to the national defense program because copper is a scarce and critical metal, started Monday.

The President named a three man board of inquiry which went to work at once in an effort to report back on the facts by next Tuesday, as requested by the

Burdick Assails Fees Paid By U.S. Contract Workers

Says Private Agencies Should Not Be Given Chance to Collect

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Rep. Burdick (R.-N.D.) asserted today a job-selling tie-up between government defense contractors and private employment agencies is costing the taxpayers and job seekers "billions."

To stop what he termed this "racket," Burdick said he will introduce legislation to make it illegal to require fees for employment on any government-financed project. He said he will act when the House reconvenes Sept. 12.

"There isn't a great deal of difference between selling a man in slavery and selling him a job," Burdick told a reporter.

"Private employers are now reaping a harvest from men employed in war construction work, which could not be accomplished if there not a complete understanding between private contractors and private employment agencies.

No Need for Fleecing

"Since this is war construction work and the United States government maintains a federal employment agency, there would be no need to allow workers to be fleeced by private employment agencies."

New Street Has Been Completed

Work to Begin on 7 Houses on Browning Terrace Development

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan reported to the Board of Public Works yesterday that the public works phase of the Browning Terrace development has been completed and "all utilities are in service."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk described the new street as "one excellent job," and he advised members of the board to inspect it.

Walter Donnaruma, who is responsible for the development, which is named after newscaster Robert Browning, said today that work has been started on seven houses on the street and the first will be occupied on or about Sept. 10.

The board voted, on recommendation of the city engineer, to pay James Berardi, contractor for the sanitary and storm sewers, $13,898.82 and retain $2,452.73, under terms of agreement, until May, 1952 when the contractor will be released.

Senate Committee Favors Higher Excise Assessments

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee has shown a willingness to obtain even more revenue from new and higher excise taxes than the $1,252,000,000 voted by the House.

The senators, in announcing their first decision on these sales levies late yesterday, tentatively agreed to add vacuum cleaners, washing machines and garbage disposal units to the list of appliances hit by a 10 per cent tax.

This will add an estimated $55,000,000 a year to the additional revenue from excises voted by the House as a part of its $7,200,000,000 tax hike bill.

It represented the major change by the Finance Committee so far in its consideration of the excises as compared with the House measure. The excises generally are applied at the manufacturers' level but are reflected, of course, in retail prices.

The Finance Committee's boosting of the excises in the House bill marked a change from its previous votes on the big tax measure.

Before starting to work on the sales levies, the senators had sliced about $1,500,000,000 off the additional revenue voted by the House. Most of this came from paring down the tax hike plans approved by the House for corporations and individuals.

He was the third of the nation's economic high command to go before the Senate Banking Committee to argue for repeal of three amendments to the controls laws which have been in effect only one month. Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson and Price Director Michael V. DiSalle testified yesterday.

Several members of the committee told Wilson and DiSalle immediate repeal is out of the question. They did not close the door on possible modification.

One of the amendments President Truman and his stabilization lieutenants want removed would let a seller pass on to the consumer all increases in costs between the start of the Korean war and last July 26.

Would Allow Margins

A second would allow wholesalers and retailers the customary percentage margins of profit they enjoyed before the Korean war.

A third would bar federal slaughtering quotas on livestock.

Johnston, in a prepared statement, labeled all three "big, gaping holes in our economic defenses."

"If the act stands," he declared, "prices will have to go up —unnecessarily. Wages will have to go up — unnecessarily. The costs of rearming will go up — unnecessarily. The dollar will sink in value—unnecessarily."

They Mean Trouble

These consequences, he said, spell trouble all down the line.

Johnston said that in amending the control law, Congress left in a mandate to prevent inflation from wrecking the nation's economy, but took away the author-

Tillson Boy Is Drowning Victim

Rosendale Man Finds Body Floating in Rondout Creek

Harold Swehla, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swehla of Tillson, drowned while swimming in the Rondout creek at Rosendale on Thursday afternoon.

The boy's body was pulled from the creek behind St. Peter's Church in Rosendale by Kevin Gaffney of that village. Gaffney told authorities he was swimming with his child when he noticed young Swehla's body floating face down in the swimming area about 2:30 p. m.

Bloomington Fire Department was notified and two volunteers, Fred Sauer and Fred Von Ahnen, responded with the department's inhalator. Efforts to revive the boy were without success, however, and he was pronounced dead by Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale.

John Heitzman and Clarence Wolfersteig also responded with the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation emergency truck.

Authorities Informed

State police and the sheriff's office were also informed of the drowning and investigation was made by Trooper Michael Devine and Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the state police sub-station at Kingston, and by County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro of the sheriff's department.

Harold Swehla's body was identified by a brother, Floyd.

Coroner Michael A. Galietta has given a verdict of accidental death by drowning.

The body was turned over to the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, where friends may call anytime until Saturday noon. Funeral services will be held at the Tillson Reformed Church on Saturday, September 1, at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Rosendale Plains Cemetery.

Harold Swehla is survived by his parents, Henry and Elsie Buley Swehla; two brothers, Floyd and Roy Swehla, and his grandmother, Mrs. Viola Swehla.

400 Taxpayers Attend Meeting

Meeting Called to Explain Re-Assessment Plan to Residents

Approximately 400 taxpayers of the town of Esopus attended a meeting Thursday night at the town hall in Port Ewen at the invitation of Reupen Gullian, councilman, and Henry Cameron, supervisor.

The meeting was called to explain the re-assessment program which is under fire by the Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc.

Henry Cameron, supervisor, explained to those present that the re-assessment program was undertaken after town officials were informed in the spring of 1949 that the township's state rate for special franchise purposes had been cut from 44 per cent to 17 per cent. He pointed out that the town attempted at a hearing in Albany to secure a better rate, but was unsuccessful.

'Fundamental Reasons'

"This is the fundamental reason why we undertook such a program. Namely, to correct inequalities in the town and to get our state equalization rate up again where it belongs," Cameron said. He noted that the county increased the equalization rate for Esopus from 41 to 73 since

Cooler Weather Is Labor Day Promise

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—The weatherman smiled on Labor Day vacationers today and said cool weather was in prospect for the holiday weekend.

He predicted temperatures in the state would drop tomorrow and remain in the mid 70's over the long weekend.

A cold front was expected to move into the western part of the state late this afternoon, driving thundershowers before it.

Efforts to Settle Strike Go on Despite Truman

President Issues His Order to Set T-H Law in Motion; Name Three

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Efforts to settle the wage dispute which has shut down most of the nation's copper industry continued today despite an initial step by President Truman to obtain a back-to-work order from the courts.

The President issued an executive order late last night to put the emergency machinery of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act in motion in a strike for the first time in 20 months.

The strike, which Mr. Truman earlier termed a serious threat to the national defense program because copper is a scarce and critical metal, started Monday.

The President named a three man board of inquiry which went to work at once in an effort to report back on the facts by next Tuesday, as requested by the

Red Koreans Move to Front

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 31 (AP)—Thousands of North Korean troops were reported today moving toward the front in hilly eastern Korea. Savage fighting has been in progress there more than two weeks.

Yesterday and last night, allied planes ripped into these reinforcements, into their highway supply convoys and the railroads feeding down to Communist front lines all across Korea.

Allies supplied their own front line troops with the biggest air drop in two months. Thirty-six flying box cars parachuted 110 tons of ammunition, rations and medical supplies yesterday to troops battling high in the mountains of eastern Korea. Rain swollen streams and muddy roads cut off truck routes.

Observations Are Made

A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer today reported the following new observations of Communist troops in eastern Korea:

A fresh division, about 8,000 men, digging in west of the coastal city of Kansong, 25 miles north of Parallel 38.

About 2,000 Reds moving south toward Yanggu, a city eight miles north of 38 and 35 miles inland from the east coast. Allied planes roared down and attacked this group.

Two other groups of 5,000 Reds each in camouflaged positions west of Kansong and north of Inje. Allied military fired on these concentrations yesterday.

All Are North Koreans

The staff officer said all the new Reds presumably are North Koreans. In the past, large Communist drives have been spearheaded by Chinese Reds.

Allied troops repulsed four Communist probing attacks north of Yanggu yesterday.

A Far East Air Forces summary Friday reported heavy attacks on the Reds' main railways, leaving many sections in Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Senator Dirksen (R.-Ill.) today told the Senate the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) has hired the former national chairman of the Socialist party as a consultant.

Burdick Assails Fees Paid By U.S. Contract Workers

Says Private Agencies Should Not Be Given Chance to Collect

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Rep. Burdick (R.-N.D.) asserted today a job-selling tie-up between government defense contractors and private employment agencies is costing the taxpayers and job seekers "billions."

To stop what he termed this "racket," Burdick said he will introduce legislation to make it illegal to require fees for employment on any government-financed project. He said he will act when the House reconvenes Sept. 12.

"There isn't a great deal of difference between selling a man in slavery and selling him a job," Burdick told a reporter.

"Private employers are now reaping a harvest from men employed in war construction work, which could not be accomplished if there not a complete understanding between private contractors and private employment agencies.

No Need for Fleecing

"Since this is war construction work and the United States government maintains a federal employment agency, there would be no need to allow workers to be fleeced by private employment agencies."

A bill now awaiting President Truman's approval would prohibit

New Street Has Been Completed

Work to Begin on 7 Houses on Browning Terrace Development

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan reported to the Board of Public Works yesterday that the public works phase of the Browning Terrace development has been completed and "all utilities are in service."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk described the new street as "one excellent job," and he advised members of the board to inspect it.

Walter Donnaruma, who is responsible for the development, which is named after newscaster Robert Browning, said today that work has been started on seven houses on the street and the first will be occupied on or about Sept. 10.

The board voted, on recommendation of the city engineer, to pay James Berardi, contractor for the sanitary and storm sewers, $13,898.82 and retain $2,452.73, under terms of agreement, until May, 1952 when the contractor will be released.

Jewel Probe Is Continued; Husband Defends Woman

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—Police were extending their investigation today into alleged jewelry thefts by a Long Island society matron.

Police said they had found a pair of diamond earrings valued at $1,200, part of the loot from a jewelry robbery, in the home of attractive, blonde Mrs. Ethel Jones Taylor, 25, of New Hyde Park.

This followed, police said yesterday an admission by Mrs. Taylor on Tuesday that she had taken jewels valued at $10,000 from the home of a friend and neighbor.

Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, chief of Nassau county detectives, said a search of Mrs. Taylor's home with the help of her husband, John, turned up the earrings.

They have been identified, police said, as belonging to Mrs. J. L. (Charlene) Wrightsman, of Houston, Texas.

She is said to be the daughter of Charles Bierer Wrightsman, president of the Standard Oil Co. of Kansas.

She is the former wife of movie actor Helmut Dantine and resumed her maiden name following her divorce last year.

Some $5,300 in jewels, including the earrings, were stolen July 4 from the home of Mrs. J. J. Hope in fashionable Tuxedo Park, where the Taylors were house guests at that time.

Pinnell said that most of the Senate Committee Favors Higher Excise Assessments

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee has shown a willingness to obtain even more revenue from new and higher excise taxes than the $1,252,000,000 voted by the House.

The senators, in announcing their first decision on these sales levies late yesterday, tentatively agreed to add vacuum cleaners, washing machines and garbage disposal units to the list of appliances hit by a 10 per cent tax.

This will add an estimated $55,000,000 a year to the additional revenue from excises voted by the House as a part of its $7,200,000,000 tax hike bill.

It represented the major change by the Finance Committee so far in its consideration of the excises as compared with the House measure. The excises generally are applied at the manufacturers' level but are reflected, of course, in retail prices.

The Finance Committee's boosting of the excises in the House bill marked a change from its previous votes on the big tax measure.

Before starting to work on the sales levies, the senators had sliced about $1,500,000,000 off the additional revenue voted by the House. Most of this came from paring down the tax hike plans approved by the House for corporations and individuals.

Late Bulletins

Catskill, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—Hudson's former Democratic leader, who resigned as police commissioner under pressure of the mayor, was questioned today by a representative of the State Crime Commission.

John J. Fardy was closeted for an hour with H. Bartow Farr, Jr., assistant counsel to the commission, which is conducting an investigation of prostitution, gambling and other vices in Columbia county.

As with previous witnesses, Fardy was placed under oath. It was not disclosed what, if anything, he told Farr.

Last year, Mayor John L. Kelly of Hudson, the county seat, sent a messenger to Fardy "requesting" him to resign. The alternative, it was made clear, was removal from office as police commissioner.

Fardy declined on the spot to quit, but an hour later he changed his mind and submitted his resignation.

The mayor did not say why he had forced Fardy out.

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Senate refused today to cut another $500,000,000 out of the $7,535,750,000 foreign aid bill.

Blanchard Is New School Principal For Marbletown

Merton A. Blanchard, Jr., has been engaged as principal of the recently formed Marbletown Central School district, and will assume his duties on September 1. He was formerly principal at East Nassau.

While the new central school building will not be completed until some time later during the school year, the officials of the district felt that in order to coordinate the activities of the dozen small district schools which make up the Central School district, it would be advisable to secure a principal at this time. He will carry on the work of unifying the districts, grouping the teaching staff and otherwise get the teaching staff and the pupils ready for the move to the new Central School when it it completed.

Ready First of Year

Work on the new school building is progressing rapidly and it may be possible to move into the new building some time after the first of the year it was said. Plans are being made to use the new Central School building some time during the present school year of 1951-52.

Principal Blanchard will have his offices in the town building in Stone Ridge until the new school building is completed.

All of the schools of the Marbletown Central School District will open for the fall term on Tuesday, Sept. 4, at 9 a. m. and there will be a half day session. Regular school programs with full day session will start on Wednesday.

Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock there will be a teachers' meeting in the Stone Ridge School.

Arrangements Completed

Arrangements have been completed for all eighth grade pupils of the schools in the centralized district, except those of the Lomontville district and the Marbletown School on Route 209 who attended the Hurley School last year, to attend the High Falls School. A bus will transport the eighth graders to High Falls. Bernice Jansen is teacher of the eighth grade at High Falls.

Students in the eighth grade at the Lomontville School and the eighth grade students in the Marbletown School area attended the Hurley School last year. This program will be continued this year the same as last season.

Damage Stock Home

The damaging of a new house at 77 Harding avenue, owned by Vincent Stock, of the K & S Electric Shop, this city, earlier this month, has been traced to four youngsters ranging in age from seven to 10 years, police said today. The youngsters were rounded up through efforts of Officer Harry Martin and the detective.

Quake Shakes Chile

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 31 (AP)—A sharp, but brief earthquake shook Santiago and central Chile today. First reports indicated there was no damage.

400 Taxpayers

the new program went into effect.

"Perhaps there are better systems, but we considered it advisable to adopt the one recommended by the State Board of Equalization, and at present we know exactly what percentage of true value each property in the town is assessed at. Namely, 33 1/3 of true value as of February 1, 1950," Cameron said.

Cameron said that the State Board has promised to set up a new set of state rates in Ulster county.

Councilman Gullian then reviewed the situation which existed when he and Cameron took office on January 1, 1948. "We soon learned from careful examination that the most serious problem we were facing was that of assessments," Gullian said. "Our state equalization rate was reduced, thereby placing an added burden upon our taxpayers. We also knew that we were the third poorest assessed town in our county, with most of our properties being assessed at less than 10 per cent of true value," he said.

'No Rhyme or Reason'

Gullian, after explaining how the equalization rate works, continued: "I know from my observation of our county table, that there is absolutely no rhyme or reason on the ratio of figures . . . with our political system of trading points and with selfish motives of towns trying to get away without paying their rightful share of county expenses, our county equalization rates have actually come to have no meaning, except that it is penalizing many towns for the benefit of a few."

Speaking against an across-the-board type of reassessment, Gullian said, "We all know that when a percentage increase is made across the board, the inequalities are increased to greater proportions."

Gullian contended that "the only means to raise our total assessed valuation and to wipe out our existing inequalities, both of which was so sorely needed, was to use a modern method whereby each property would have a fair and just assessment." He then explained how the assessors gathered the data on which to base the new assessment, and slides were shown of several properties.

Gullian challenged the officers of the taxpayers association to an open debate on the subject of assessments, offering to arrange a meeting at their convenience. He concluded that "a study of the new roll will prove that we are right. The state of New York recognizes the success of this method within our township."

Deviation, Says Grady

At one point during Gullian's speech, a group of Taxpayers Association members left the room for a short time. In reporting this incident, John Grady, association president, said that the members felt that Gullian "was deviating from the true purpose of the meeting and had engaged in an attack on the past administrative officers of the town." Grady said about 250 of the taxpayers left the hall and assembled in the street. After an informal discussion, the group decided to re-enter the hall "provided the chairman refrained from any further deviations," Grady said.

Accepting Gullian's challenge, President Grady, Edward Cochrane, vice president, Edward Eckert, secretary, and William Buddenhagen, executive committeeman of the taxpayers association, each spoke, claiming that the reassessment was handled incorrectly.

The meeting adjourned about midnight, according to Grady.

Grady also reported today that a nine-page report of charges of inefficiency was turned over by the association to Conrad J. Heiselman on Wednesday evening. It is hoped, Grady said, that the report will be reviewed by Senator Arthur H. Wicks.

Held for Grand Jury

Brown of the sheriff's office.

Gets 90 Days in Jail

A burglary charge brought against Edward Patrick DuMond, 41, of Bristol, Conn., was dismissed by Justice of the Peace Francis E. Palen of the town of Esopus during a hearing Thursday afternoon. With the consent of the district attorney, a disorderly conduct was substituted, to which DuMond pleaded guilty. He was sentenced by Justice Palen to 90 days in the Ulster county jail. DuMond was found inside the McCabe home in Port Ewen early Wednesday morning, state police charged.

Cash Receipts Are Missing at Station

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. (AP)—An envelope containing $3,675.53, representing cash receipts from last Saturday and Sunday ticket sales at the Poughkeepsie New York Central Railroad station, has disappeared, a spokesman for the railroad said today.

The railroad said the matter was called to its attention yesterday by the Irving Trust Co., in New York city, to which the money was addressed for deposit.

The matter was referred to the New York Central police. The spokesman said it had been determined that three envelopes were placed on a train at Poughkeepsie Monday, but only two of them were received in New York. The railroad spokesman said it had not been determined whether the money was lost, mislaid or stolen.

New Street Has

tion of the sanitary and storm sewers, and grit chamber; James Berardi, of Kingston and V. J. Costanzi, Inc., of Kingston and Poughkeepsie, both approximately $40,000.

A board committee will report next week on the awarding of contracts. Exact amounts were not given because the figures of the bids, the sewer phase of which has 14 items, have not been completely checked.

The board accepted the resignation of three public works department employes: Anthony Davide, 65 Linderman avenue; Irving Dunham, 2 Murphy street, and Donald Davis, 95 Merilina avenue.

Mayor Newkirk said during discussion of a 10th Ward petition for the repairing of the south side of Greenkill avenue, that the street would be repaired.

A question of property rights arising of a sewer situation on Cross street between First and Second avenues, was referred to the corporation counsel and city engineer.

Request for a light near 146 Pine street and one on Delaware avenue between the Cordts fire station and Lindsley avenue, were referred to the light committee.

Premier-Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida heads the delegation that expects to return Japan to full-fledged membership in the family of nations.

Percy Spender, Australian minister of foreign affairs, suggested at a news conference Japan should be included in any future Pacific security alliances.

Spender called the Defense Pact a step toward establishing security in the Pacific and said, "I wouldn't exclude Japan at all from such a treaty."

Comment Declined

Spender declined comment on reports he may be selected as chairman of the treaty conference.

Sir Carl Berendsen, New Zealand ambassador to the U. S. said he would resist any attempt to change the treaty draft.

"I will give my full cooperation to resist any attempt by any country to defeat or delay the subject of this treaty, or to confuse or disrupt or prolong the conference or to turn the conference into a vehicle of propaganda."

There has been speculation on whether the Russians will try to do this.

The conference is scheduled Tuesday through Saturday.

Plans went forward for continuous local television broadcast of the sessions, with certain events being micro-waved to the east on the Bell System's new transcontinental system.

First of these coast to coast video casts is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. (9:30 p. m. Tuesday, when President Truman delivers the keynote address).

The Red general said the asserted flare incident "once more testified that your side has in no way given up the plot of continuing to create incidents. He asked "full assurance against any repetition."

A UN command spokesman denied Red assertions that UN liaison officers agreed on Aug. 16 that Allied planes would not fly over the neutral zone. He said Ridgway's previous guarantee provided that UN planes would take no "warlike action" in the restricted area.

Broadcasts from Red China's Peiping radio have charged that as many as 43 sorties have been flown over the zone in a single day.

Dirksen read to the Senate a letter from ECA confirming that Maynard C. Krueger is on its payroll as a $45-a-day consultant on southeast Asia aid.

Dirksen said Krueger was national chairman of the Socialist party from 1942 to 1946 and its nominee for vice-president in 1940. He is an associate professor of economics at the University of Chicago.

And, Dirksen said he did not want people like Krueger "to carry American standards abroad."

Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona called the Senate into session at 9 a. m. (EST), two hours earlier than usual in hopes of getting a final vote on the measure by nightfall.

Efforts to Settle

President: The board is not authorized to recommend a settlement.

Arranges Organization

The board arranged an organization session today; hearings might be possible by tomorrow.

A court injunction, to force an end of the strike, may not be obtained before the board reports, under terms of the Taft-Hartley law. Once obtained, it runs for 80 days.

Despite Mr. Truman's action, interest was focussed on the negotiations between the Kennecott Copper Co. and the AFL and independent unions involved in two major Salt Lake City plants.

Face-to-face bargaining between the unions and the company was scheduled this morning when cost figures arrive from Salt Lake City by airplane.

Either Could Yield

On the basis of those figures, either the unions or the company could yield and settle their dispute.

It was freely predicted that any settlement was likely to be around 16 cents an hour as a package of wage benefits, including an across-the-board boost of about eight cents. The Kennecott workers now average $1.54 an hour. They got a 10 cent increase last year. The 16 cent figure was suggested earlier by conciliation chief Cyrus S. Ching, but he withdrew it as a government recommendation yesterday to clear away any obstacles to private negotiations or board of inquiry moves.

A Kennecott settlement likely would be followed rapidly by a break-up of the entire strike and settlements in the other major copper operations. These include Phelps-Dodge, Anaconda, and American Smelting and Refining Companies.

Will Press for Return

The Independent Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, whose 50,000 members are on strike at the major operations, will press for a quick return of the Kennecott workers in the event of a settlement. But the union's negotiator, Orville Larson, said the membership would have to approve any agreements.

AFL unions and several railroad brotherhoods also are in the controversy, and they have refused to cross picket lines of the mine, mill and smelter workers. These other unions have similar demands pending but have not called a strike. In all, an estimated 100,000 copper, lead and zinc industry workers are idle. Nearly half the nation's tungsten production also was shut down as a result of the strike.

The AFL's H. B. Douglas expressed confidence that settlement was possible today, but he said Mr. Truman's action "stunned" the negotiators and made more difficult the task of reaching a settlement and having it accepted by the membership.

The board of inquiry appointed by the President includes Ralph Seward, chairman, Joseph L. Miller, and Allan Dash, Jr. Seward and Miller are Washington, D. C., arbitrators; Dash is from Philadelphia.

Burdick Assails

private employment agencies from collecting fees for helping applicants obtain jobs in an executive agency of the government. The Civil Service Commission, which supervises hiring, had long sought the measure.

Burdick's proposed bill would extend the prohibition to private employment agencies dealing with contractors on government-financed projects.

Compiles Much Data

To back his charges, Burdick has compiled a thick dossier, including letters and affidavits from individuals, in cooperation with the Construction Men's Association, Inc., New York, an employe group.

Some of the big contracting firms openly oppose the practice. Burdick disclosed one letter from H. W. Morrison, president of Morrison-Knudsen Co., Inc., New York, terming the practice "entirely indefensible."

Agency fees sometimes run up to $600 or more, Burdick said. He added that the customary charge appears to be 5 to 10 per cent of the annual salary paid on the particular job.

Car Catches Fire

Firemen were called to 608 Delaware avenue at 10:27 a. m., where the car of Herbert Cogswell, of that address, caught fire because of an overheated transmission. The blaze caught to floor boards and was quenched with a garden hose before Engine No. 1 of Central station arrived.

Late Bulletins

Catskill, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—Hudson's former Democratic leader, who resigned as police commissioner under pressure of the mayor, was questioned today by a representative of the State Crime Commission.

John J. Fardy was closeted for an hour with H. Bartow Farr, Jr., assistant counsel to the commission, which is conducting an investigation of prostitution, gambling and other vices in Columbia county.

As with previous witnesses, Fardy was placed under oath. It was not disclosed what, if anything, he told Farr.

Last year, Mayor John L. Kelly of Hudson, the county seat, sent a messenger to Fardy "requesting" him to resign. The alternative, it was made clear, was removal from office as police commissioner.

Fardy declined on the spot to quit, but an hour later he changed his mind and submitted his resignation.

The mayor did not say why he had forced Fardy out.

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Senate refused today to cut another $500,000,000 out of the $7,535,750,000 foreign aid bill.

Blanchard Is New School Principal For Marbletown

Merton A. Blanchard, Jr., has been engaged as principal of the recently formed Marbletown Central School district, and will assume his duties on September 1. He was formerly principal at East Nassau.

While the new central school building will not be completed until some time later during the school year, the officials of the district felt that in order to coordinate the activities of the dozen small district schools which make up the Central School district, it would be advisable to secure a principal at this time. He will carry on the work of unifying the districts, grouping the teaching staff and otherwise get the teaching staff and the pupils ready for the move to the new Central School when it it completed.

Ready First of Year

Work on the new school building is progressing rapidly and it may be possible to move into the new building some time after the first of the year it was said. Plans are being made to use the new Central School building some time during the present school year of 1951-52.

Principal Blanchard will have his offices in the town building in Stone Ridge until the new school building is completed.

All of the schools of the Marbletown Central School District will open for the fall term on Tuesday, Sept. 4, at 9 a. m. and there will be a half day session. Regular school programs with full day session will start on Wednesday.

Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock there will be a teachers' meeting in the Stone Ridge School.

Arrangements Completed

Arrangements have been completed for all eighth grade pupils of the schools in the centralized district, except those of the Lomontville district and the Marbletown School on Route 209 who attended the Hurley School last year, to attend the High Falls School. A bus will transport the eighth graders to High Falls. Bernice Jansen is teacher of the eighth grade at High Falls.

Students in the eighth grade at the Lomontville School and the eighth grade students in the Marbletown School area attended the Hurley School last year. This program will be continued this year the same as last season.

The youngsters were rounded up through efforts of Officer Harry Martin and the detective.

Quake Shakes Chile

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 31 (AP)—A sharp, but brief earthquake shook Santiago and central Chile today. First reports indicated there was no damage.

400 Taxpayers

the new program went into effect.

"Perhaps there are better systems, but we considered it advisable to adopt the one recommended by the State Board of Equalization, and at present we know exactly what percentage of true value each property in the town is assessed at. Namely, 33 1/3 of true value as of February 1, 1950," Cameron said.

Cameron said that the State Board has promised to set up a new set of state rates in Ulster county.

Councilman Gullian then reviewed the situation which existed when he and Cameron took office on January 1, 1948. "We soon learned from careful examination that the most serious problem we were facing was that of assessments," Gullian said. "Our state equalization rate was reduced, thereby placing an added burden upon our taxpayers. We also knew that we were the third poorest assessed town in our county, with most of our properties being assessed at less than 10 per cent of true value," he said.

'No Rhyme or Reason'

Gullian, after explaining how the equalization rate works, continued: "I know from my observation of our county table, that there is absolutely no rhyme or reason on the ratio of figures . . . with our political system of trading points and with selfish motives of towns trying to get away without paying their rightful share of county expenses, our county equalization rates have actually come to have no meaning, except that it is penalizing many towns for the benefit of a few."

Speaking against an across-the-board type of reassessment, Gullian said, "We all know that when a percentage increase is made across the board, the inequalities are increased to greater proportions."

Gullian contended that "the only means to raise our total assessed valuation and to wipe out our existing inequalities, both of which was so sorely needed, was to use a modern method whereby each property would have a fair and just assessment." He then explained how the assessors gathered the data on which to base the new assessment, and slides were shown of several properties.

Gullian challenged the officers of the taxpayers association to an open debate on the subject of assessments, offering to arrange a meeting at their convenience. He concluded that "a study of the new roll will prove that we are right. The state of New York recognizes the success of this method within our township."

Deviation, Says Grady

At one point during Gullian's speech, a group of Taxpayers Association members left the room for a short time. In reporting this incident, John Grady, association president, said that the members felt that Gullian "was deviating from the true purpose of the meeting and had engaged in an attack on the past administrative officers of the town." Grady said about 250 of the taxpayers left the hall and assembled in the street. After an informal discussion, the group decided to re-enter the hall "provided the chairman refrained from any further deviations," Grady said.

Accepting Gullian's challenge, President Grady, Edward Cochrane, vice president, Edward Eckert, secretary, and William Buddenhagen, executive committeeman of the taxpayers association, each spoke, claiming that the reassessment was handled incorrectly.

The meeting adjourned about midnight, according to Grady.

Grady also reported today that a nine-page report of charges of inefficiency was turned over by the association to Conrad J. Heiselman on Wednesday evening. It is hoped, Grady said, that the report will be reviewed by Senator Arthur H. Wicks.

Brown of the sheriff's office.

Gets 90 Days in Jail

A burglary charge brought against Edward Patrick DuMond, 41, of Bristol, Conn., was dismissed by Justice of the Peace Francis E. Palen of the town of Esopus during a hearing Thursday afternoon. With the consent of the district attorney, a disorderly conduct was substituted, to which DuMond pleaded guilty. He was sentenced by Justice Palen to 90 days in the Ulster county jail. DuMond was found inside the McCabe home in Port Ewen early Wednesday morning, state police charged.

Cash Receipts Are Missing at Station

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. (AP)—An envelope containing $3,675.53, representing cash receipts from last Saturday and Sunday ticket sales at the Poughkeepsie New York Central Railroad station, has disappeared, a spokesman for the railroad said today.

The railroad said the matter was called to its attention yesterday by the Irving Trust Co., in New York city, to which the money was addressed for deposit.

The matter was referred to the New York Central police. The spokesman said it had been determined that three envelopes were placed on a train at Poughkeepsie Monday, but only two of them were received in New York. The railroad spokesman said it had not been determined whether the money was lost, mislaid or stolen.

tion of the sanitary and storm sewers, and grit chamber; James Berardi, of Kingston and V. J. Costanzi, Inc., of Kingston and Poughkeepsie, both approximately $40,000.

A board committee will report next week on the awarding of contracts. Exact amounts were not given because the figures of the bids, the sewer phase of which has 14 items, have not been completely checked.

The board accepted the resignation of three public works department employes: Anthony Davide, 65 Linderman avenue; Irving Dunham, 2 Murphy street, and Donald Davis, 95 Merilina avenue.

Mayor Newkirk said during discussion of a 10th Ward petition for the repairing of the south side of Greenkill avenue, that the street would be repaired.

A question of property rights arising of a sewer situation on Cross street between First and Second avenues, was referred to the corporation counsel and city engineer.

Request for a light near 146 Pine street and one on Delaware avenue between the Cordts fire station and Lindsley avenue, were referred to the light committee.

Premier-Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida heads the delegation that expects to return Japan to full-fledged membership in the family of nations.

Percy Spender, Australian minister of foreign affairs, suggested at a news conference Japan should be included in any future Pacific security alliances.

Spender called the Defense Pact a step toward establishing security in the Pacific and said, "I wouldn't exclude Japan at all from such a treaty."

Comment Declined

Spender declined comment on reports he may be selected as chairman of the treaty conference.

Sir Carl Berendsen, New Zealand ambassador to the U. S. said he would resist any attempt to change the treaty draft.

"I will give my full cooperation to resist any attempt by any country to defeat or delay the subject of this treaty, or to confuse or disrupt or prolong the conference or to turn the conference into a vehicle of propaganda."

There has been speculation on whether the Russians will try to do this.

The conference is scheduled Tuesday through Saturday.

Plans went forward for continuous local television broadcast of the sessions, with certain events being micro-waved to the east on the Bell System's new transcontinental system.

First of these coast to coast video casts is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. (9:30 p. m. Tuesday, when President Truman delivers the keynote address).

The Red general said the asserted flare incident "once more testified that your side has in no way given up the plot of continuing to create incidents. He asked "full assurance against any repetition."

A UN command spokesman denied Red assertions that UN liaison officers agreed on Aug. 16 that Allied planes would not fly over the neutral zone. He said Ridgway's previous guarantee provided that UN planes would take no "warlike action" in the restricted area.

Broadcasts from Red China's Peiping radio have charged that as many as 43 sorties have been flown over the zone in a single day.

Dirksen read to the Senate a letter from ECA confirming that Maynard C. Krueger is on its payroll as a $45-a-day consultant on southeast Asia aid.

Dirksen said Krueger was national chairman of the Socialist party from 1942 to 1946 and its nominee for vice-president in 1940. He is an associate professor of economics at the University of Chicago.

And, Dirksen said he did not want people like Krueger "to carry American standards abroad."

Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona called the Senate into session at 9 a. m. (EST), two hours earlier than usual in hopes of getting a final vote on the measure by nightfall.

Efforts to Settle

President: The board is not authorized to recommend a settlement.

Arranges Organization

The board arranged an organization session today; hearings might be possible by tomorrow.

A court injunction, to force an end of the strike, may not be obtained before the board reports, under terms of the Taft-Hartley law. Once obtained, it runs for 80 days.

Despite Mr. Truman's action, interest was focussed on the negotiations between the Kennecott Copper Co. and the AFL and independent unions involved in two major Salt Lake City plants.

Face-to-face bargaining between the unions and the company was scheduled this morning when cost figures arrive from Salt Lake City by airplane.

Either Could Yield

On the basis of those figures, either the unions or the company could yield and settle their dispute.

It was freely predicted that any settlement was likely to be around 16 cents an hour as a package of wage benefits, including an across-the-board boost of about eight cents. The Kennecott workers now average $1.54 an hour. They got a 10 cent increase last year. The 16 cent figure was suggested earlier by conciliation chief Cyrus S. Ching, but he withdrew it as a government recommendation yesterday to clear away any obstacles to private negotiations or board of inquiry moves.

A Kennecott settlement likely would be followed rapidly by a break-up of the entire strike and settlements in the other major copper operations. These include Phelps-Dodge, Anaconda, and American Smelting and Refining Companies.

Will Press for Return

The Independent Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, whose 50,000 members are on strike at the major operations, will press for a quick return of the Kennecott workers in the event of a settlement. But the union's negotiator, Orville Larson, said the membership would have to approve any agreements.

AFL unions and several railroad brotherhoods also are in the controversy, and they have refused to cross picket lines of the mine, mill and smelter workers. These other unions have similar demands pending but have not called a strike. In all, an estimated 100,000 copper, lead and zinc industry workers are idle. Nearly half the nation's tungsten production also was shut down as a result of the strike.

The AFL's H. B. Douglas expressed confidence that settlement was possible today, but he said Mr. Truman's action "stunned" the negotiators and made more difficult the task of reaching a settlement and having it accepted by the membership.

The board of inquiry appointed by the President includes Ralph Seward, chairman, Joseph L. Miller, and Allan Dash, Jr. Seward and Miller are Washington, D. C., arbitrators; Dash is from Philadelphia.

private employment agencies from collecting fees for helping applicants obtain jobs in an executive agency of the government. The Civil Service Commission, which supervises hiring, had long sought the measure.

Burdick's proposed bill would extend the prohibition to private employment agencies dealing with contractors on government-financed projects.

Compiles Much Data

To back his charges, Burdick has compiled a thick dossier, including letters and affidavits from individuals, in cooperation with the Construction Men's Association, Inc., New York, an employe group.

Some of the big contracting firms openly oppose the practice. Burdick disclosed one letter from H. W. Morrison, president of Morrison-Knudsen Co., Inc., New York, terming the practice "entirely indefensible."

Agency fees sometimes run up to $600 or more, Burdick said. He added that the customary charge appears to be 5 to 10 per cent of the annual salary paid on the particular job.

Car Catches Fire

Firemen were called to 608 Delaware avenue at 10:27 a. m., where the car of Herbert Cogswell, of that address, caught fire because of an overheated transmission. The blaze caught to floor boards and was quenched with a garden hose before Engine No. 1 of Central station arrived.

Police Seek 11 Persons for Probe

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—Police scoured the northeast today for 11 of the 26 persons indicted by a special grand jury looking for any political ties between gambling and public officials in Saratoga county.

Thirteen of the 26 already have been arrested. One of the 11 previously was listed as a fugitive.

The names of two others were withheld "for police reasons," troopers said. They declined to elaborate.

On the 10 besides the alleged fugitive, state police sent out a general alarm to more than 1,000 police stations in 13 northeastern states.

Indictments Name 26

The grand jury has handled up 10 indictments so far, naming 26 persons.

They were charged with various misdemeanor courts of being common gamblers, conspiracy to gamble or of operating gambling establishments at the world-famous night spots in Saratoga Springs, upstate horserace center.

Most of the 13 already arrested have been arraigned, pleaded innocent and are free under bond.

A general alarm was sent out two weeks ago for John J. King of Saratoga Springs, state police said yesterday. King is the father of Gerard E. King, under indictment as the alleged operator of Newman's Lake House at Saratoga, described as a gambling spot.

The 10 listed on the general larm sent out by state police teletype yesterday were:

Leo Grennan, 49 and Patrick J. Grennan, 54, brothers, Schenectady; Gilbert Outhwaite, 40, no address; John McEwen, 54, Albany; Anthony N. Padula, 52, Albany, and Allen R. Bryden of Erland Rd., Stoney Brook, L. I. The latter is accused of being connected with The Brook.

Air Force Planning Foreign Radar Screen

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force is planning a "radar screen" for its bases in Britain, western Europe and the Mediterranean area.

An air force spokesman confirmed today that "a sizeable part" of the $1,071,000,000 requested of Congress for "classified" air force construction overseas will go into such an air raid warning and patrol system.

Authorization for the spending is part of $5,768,000,000 military construction bill approved by the House and now pending in the Senate.

Eclipse Due Tomorrow

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—Early risers tomorrow will see a partial eclipse of the sun. The phenomena will be visible on all of the eastern seaboard and west of the Mississippi river to a line approximately between Galveston, Tex., and Bismarck, N. D. The sun will rise here partly eclipsed at 5:21 (EST). The shadow will deepen until 6:01 a. m. (EST), when about 87 per cent of the sun's surface will be blotted out. The shadow then will start to fade, disappearing at 7:10 a. m. (EST). The last eclipse visible in the U. S. was April 7, 1940. The next is scheduled for May 30, 1984.

Dry Month Burns Crops

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—One of the driest Augusts on record has hit western New York farmers and damaged many of their crops. They report that vegetable crops, particularly tomatoes, are drying up; the large hay crop is poor in quality, and most of the pastures in the area are burning brown. The U. S. Weather Bureau said slightly more than a half-inch of rain had fallen so far this month. The normal rainfall for August in the area is 3.08 inches. The bureau forecasts some showers over the weekend, but farmers say even that will be too late.

Nehru Makes Request

New Delhi, India, Aug. 31 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today he has asked Burma to restrain its headhunting tribesmen from making forays like the one early this summer in which 93 Indians lost their heads. But, said Nehru, he doubted whether it would do any good since the Burmese government "has no control over that (border) area for the moment." Nehru described the early summer raid in which the 93 Indian heads were carried back to Burma as "one of those yearly exhibitions of exuberance by these vital dynamic people."

New York Man, 41, Held in Smuggling

Boston, Aug. 31 (AP)—A New York man was held on a smuggling charge today after customs agents found two bags of diamonds worth approximately $100,000 on his person when he arrived by plane from Paris.

Samuel Singer, 41, was arranged before U. S. Commissioner Peter J. Nelligan and held in $25,000 bond for hearing, Sept. 7.

Customs men described the diamonds as beautifully cut baguettes of emerald hue.

Collector of Customs William H. Burke, Jr., said the gems were found on Singer when he was stripped after a search of his luggage was fruitless.

Singer said he was given the diamonds by a man in Paris who offered him $500 to bring them to Boston where he was supposed to deliver them to another man. The agents said Singer told them he did not know either the man in Paris or the one who was to meet him here. Singer was returning from Israel.

Burke said an investigation might result in other arrests in Boston and New York.

Agree With Hoover About Intellectual Dishonesty Spread

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Four senators agreed with former President Herbert Hoover today that this nation is experiencing a "growth in intellectual dishonesty in public life which is mostly beyond the law."

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) said Hoover's remarks "about public morals supports the move to find some means for studying ethics in government and suggesting ways of improving them."

Fulbright has proposed a special commission to make such a study. The proposal came after a Senate inquiry group Fulbright headed turned up some sensational testimony of influence wielding in connection with big loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Hoover had some of this testimony in mind when he asked, in a speech at Des Moines, Iowa, yesterday, what the country's "founding fathers" would have said about "the five percenters, mink coats, deep freezes, and free hotels, or favoritism in government loans and contract?"

Three Republicans, Senators Morse of Oregon, Aiken of Vermont and Bricker of Ohio, also agreed with the former president. As did Fulbright, all expressed their views in talks with a reporter.

"Herbert Hoover is completely right in assailing the intellectual dishonesty and corruption which exists to an alarming degree in our public life today," Morse said. The American people, he added, "have it within their power to correct the situation at the ballot boxes."

Aiken said the best possible cure for the things Mr. Hoover complained about "would be a complete change in administration between the two major parties at frequent intervals."

Bricker said "the general breakdown in the morals and conduct of government comes largely from the New Deal philosophy of government."

"PIEL'S is the BEER for me—
DRY as a beer can be!"

Less N.F.S.
(NON-FERMENTED SUGAR)

means a drier, more satisfying flavor!

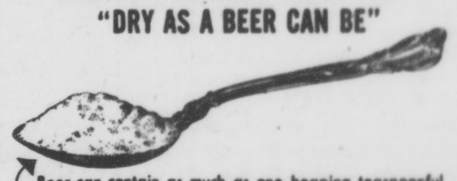

Look up "dry" in the dictionary. It means "lacking sweetness." And in beer, dryness depends upon the absence of N.F.S. (non-fermented sugar) after brewing is completed.

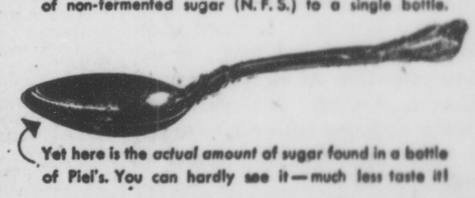

Repeated independent laboratory tests have shown that Piel's beer contained almost no N.F.S.... that Piel's is truly as "dry as a beer can be."

Tonight, look up Piel's at your favorite store or tavern. Discover how Piel's slower, costlier brewing means a beer more dry, more satisfying, always.

HERE'S PROOF THAT SLOWER, COSTLIER BREWING MAKES PIEL'S "DRY AS A BEER CAN BE"

Beer can contain as much as one heaping teaspoonful of non-fermented sugar (N.F.S.) to a single bottle.

Yet here is the actual amount of sugar found in a bottle of Piel's. You can hardly see it—much less taste it!

Three Republicans, Senators Morse of Oregon, Aiken of Vermont and Bricker of Ohio, also agreed with the former president. As did Fulbright, all expressed their views in talks with a reporter.

"Herbert Hoover is completely right in assailing the intellectual dishonesty and corruption which exists to an alarming degree in our public life today," Morse said. The American people, he added, "have it within their power to correct the situation at the ballot boxes."

Aiken said the best possible cure for the things Mr. Hoover complained about "would be a complete change in administration between the two major parties at frequent intervals."

Bricker said "the general breakdown in the morals and conduct of government comes largely from the New Deal philosophy of government."

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE IT!

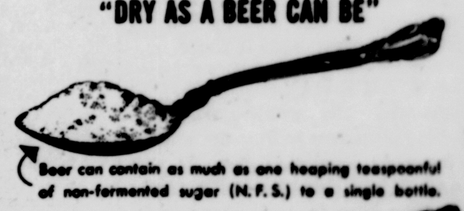

Look up "dry" in the dictionary. It means "lacking sweetness." And in beer, dryness depends upon the absence of N.F.S. (non-fermented sugar) after brewing is completed.

Repeated independent laboratory tests have shown that Piel's beer contained almost no N.F.S.... that Piel's is truly as "dry as a beer can be."

Tonight, look up Piel's at your favorite store or tavern. Discover how Piel's slower, costlier brewing means a beer more dry, more satisfying, always.

HERE'S PROOF THAT SLOWER, COSTLIER BREWING MAKES PIEL'S "DRY AS A BEER CAN BE"

Beer can contain as much as one heaping teaspoonful of non-fermented sugar (N. F. S.) to a single bottle.

Yet here is the actual amount of sugar found in a bottle of Piel's. You can hardly see it—much less taste it!

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 31, 1951

KREMLIN'S DEFINITION OF WAR

In America, speculation is constant on the issue whether we shall eventually have war with Russia. But in the Soviet Union there is no need for such guesswork. Russian communism considers itself in a state of war with Western capitalism now.

As a matter of fact, in the Red view, that warfare has been going on a long time. But its more acute phase may be said to have begun with the launching of the Cold War in 1947, when the Kremlin declined to take part in the Marshall Plan.

Obviously, we are speaking here of two different definitions of war. America clings to the traditional meaning—the open clash of armed forces. To the Russians, war is anything that weakens or harms or destroys the enemy. And the destruction need not be physical. Indeed, the Soviet leaders prefer it not to be.

So, in the Kremlin's understanding, war is: sabotaging the United Nations through endless obstructive tactics; promoting permanent international political chaos by blocking peace treaties for Austria, Germany and, if possible, Japan; using the device of the conference table to seek political ends that seem most easily attainable that way.

Undermining shaky middle-of-the-road governments by subversion; encouraging poverty and social turmoil on which communism feeds; bombarding the world with phony talk of peace, atomic energy control, disarmament; depicting the enemy as an aggressor, as an oppressor of the people, a devil masquerading as a saint.

In Moscow's terms, actual use of force is but one element in a war that can be fought on any one or more of the many fronts here suggested. But the important thing to remember is that in the Communist mind, all these fronts merge into one. The shooting might stop in Korea, but the struggle would go on undiminished. The combat would simply be switched to another arena.

We may not like the Russian definition of war. But if we seriously propose to stand off communism successfully, we had better understand that meaning and accept it. Because that is the kind of war we're in, and our denying it won't change the fact.

To cling to outmoded concepts of war as only armed struggle is to oversimplify our current dilemma and underestimate the Soviet enemy. He is relentless, probing always for weakness of whatever kind. As the thoughtful Committee for Economic Development recently put it, "the provocation which the Soviet rulers will always recognize is the provocation of opportunity."

In a brilliant analysis of the foreign problem, the CED acknowledges the true nature of Soviet warfare, and declares that its flexibility requires the West to organize a "comprehensive and balanced security program which leaves no breach wide enough to invite a Soviet thrust." In other words, we must be prepared to meet the Russian challenge in every field every day for as long as the Kremlin has the power to try imposing its will upon the free world.

Anything less than this will not win the war for free men. The mere absence of violence is no evidence of peace in this age. Those who anxiously await a cease-fire in Korea as a signal to relax our vigilance may mark that fact well. A relaxed West is a West one step closer to conquest by Russia. Our guard is up; we must keep it there.

A NICE DAY

One reason why the weatherman has trouble with his customers is that not everyone agrees on what is a nice day. If you want to go on a picnic, sunshine and a pleasant breeze make a nice day. If there is an engagement you'd rather not keep, or an outdoor chore you want to escape, pouring rain may make a nice day. A fresh breeze is just the thing for a lad with a kite to fly, but trouble for a gardener who wants to spray his roses.

Acknowledgment of these things does not mean that the day must invariably be regarded as fine. That would be as monotonous as if the weather itself never changed.

Every day is a nice day, for someone. But once in a while, when someone remarks that it's a fine day or a nasty one, it is good to have the privilege of disagreement.

'These Days'

NEHRU'S FALLACY

While Soviet Russia will send a delegation to the San Francisco conference on the Japanese treaty, India will boycott the conference. Russia will use sabotage as a weapon; India uses the boycott. Russia will speak long and loud; India will give the identical impression by silence.

Both countries have the same aim and purpose, namely, to seal off Asia from the United States, to close the entire continent of Asia, if they can manage it by diplomacy, intrigue, revolution or war, from European and American commerce, credits and friendship. The failure of the Harriman mission to Iran is part of this intrigue. The revolutionary movements in the Philippines, Burma and Malaya are phases of this program.

Nehru is a Socialist and has always publicly regarded himself as such. We know from Professor Karl A. Wittfogel's testimony before the McCarran Committee that in 1929 he attended a Russian-directed Communist conference at Frankfort-am-Main. Most of those who attended were then Communists, although we may assume that some were invited for the impression that such a conference would make on them. We know from this little tile in a grand mosaic of intrigue that as early as 1929, Nehru had close relations with international communism. From 1945 to this day, Nehru has in many official acts indicated that those relations still exist and are cordial.

Otto Friedman, in his book, "The Break-Up of Czech Democracy," makes an interesting point which, while applied to Czechoslovakia, fits current India. He wrote:

"The philosophers of Czechoslovak democracy failed, because they believed that they could preserve the democracy and independence of their own country, whilst supporting, through their foreign policy and propaganda, the expansion of Soviet communism in other countries. . . ."

Precisely that has been Nehru's diplomacy. He has been trying to purchase the independence of his country from Soviet Russia by acting as Russia's agent in the conquest, by diplomacy, of other Asiatic countries. That game has brought no benefit anywhere in Europe; there is no reason to believe that it can succeed anywhere in Asia.

One reason that India, as many countries in eastern Europe, fears Soviet Russia but does not fear America, is that since Teheran (1943), this country has appeased Russia. Therefore, countries which joined up with us, as Nationalist China and Iran did, could not know at what point the United States would desert its friends, for the sake of appeasement, as Chiang Kai-shek, as Singman Rhee, as the Shah of Persia have at times been deserted, even though eventually they may have been picked up again. Even our mixed and uncertain policy to Israel gives, to other countries, evidence of an undetermined policy, largely dominated by domestic considerations.

It is the opportunistic, day-by-day policy that our State Department has pursued since 1943 which gives cause to other nations to question the wisdom of risking their national existence on the exigencies of American activities in the international field.

India fears Soviet Russia and distrusts the United States. Therefore, India risks American displeasure while acting as the Russian broker. The fallacy of such a policy is obvious from the American standpoint; to an Indian it represents clever manipulation of two great powers by a small one.

Nehru can continue to pursue this course only as long as the United States does not get very angry over it. All we need to do is to adopt a pro-Pakistan attitude, withhold assistance and commercial favors from India and give them to Pakistan, and Nehru's world would collapse about his ears.

Unfortunately, such a realistic course will not be pursued by the State Department as long as Great Britain insists that Nehru should be placated lest he take India out of the British Commonwealth.

So, again, as with Nationalist China, American policy is being decided by what the British insist upon as their necessities. This country cannot long measure its conduct or control its attitudes on this basis, for while this nation has a continent to defend, Great Britain hopes to save the vestiges of empire trade. The two purposes are not identical; in fact, they are in conflict. Many of our difficulties with other countries are the result of this conflict of purpose. It prevents the United States from fixing its own policy and determining the nature of its relations to other nations.

It will be interesting to see how the British handle this situation at the forthcoming San Francisco conference.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HELPING THE CHILD

One of the discoveries in medicine of recent years is the great part the glands take in managing and directing the body processes. We know how the thyroid gland, manufacturing and pouring its juice or extract into the blood at a normal rate, balances the rate at which the body processes work.

We are familiar with the overactivity of the thyroid gland (goiter) causing the body processes to work too fast—underweight, rapid heart beat, rapid digestion. We are not, however, very familiar with the opposite condition of the thyroid gland, underactivity, in which all the processes work too slowly and thus cause overweight, slow heart beat, slow digestion. An individual with extreme underactivity of the thyroid gland is called a cretin—undersized, overweight, sluggish in his bodily movements and sluggish mentally.

In past years some physicians have been giving these cretins thyroid extract to speed up the body processes, reduce weight, and increase their bodily and mental development. Unfortunately, some of these physicians hesitated to give enough thyroid extract to obtain satisfactory results and the poor children have remained a great disappointment to themselves and, more particularly, to their families. Physicians fear severe reactions to gland substances in some patients.

That if a larger dose of thyroid extract were given, many of these cretins may improve sufficiently in appearance and ability that they can take their rightful place in the community, is stated by Dr. E. E. Brown in Northwest Medicine.

Dr. Brown presents the histories of two cretins, one a boy of 21 months and the other a girl aged 8 years, who made little mental and physical progress under a period of many months while being treated with ¼ and ½ grain dessicated thyroid substance. Remarkable changes took place within a few weeks when 3 or 4 grains were given daily. Despite toxic (poisonous) symptoms from the large doses, Dr. Brown states that the patient and physician must tolerate and expect these symptoms if satisfactory results are to be obtained.

The physician must take the responsibility of prescribing a large dose if he can see the child frequently, as this is the cretin's only chance to regain some at least of his lost mental and physical development.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Millard Caldwell, federal civil defense administrator.)

Washington—While time is running out, the cracker-box strategists fumble civil defense.

Some of them know that air power at its best can stop only 30 out of 100 attacking enemy bombers. Yet they insist that more air power is the sole answer to protecting the home front.

Others blow hot and cold. One day they think the situation is so hopeless that civil defense could do no good. The next day, the world situation looks brighter, so civil defense is not needed.

Still others insist that retaliation is the answer. What we can do to the enemy blinds them to what the enemy can do to us. They forget the trigger for our retaliation will be a mass atomic attack on our own cities.

Then, another group, the ostrich thinkers, insist that no nation would dare attack this country, because nobody ever has, and besides we're too strong.

Some, bored with crisis after crisis, wake up now and then, say "it can't happen here," and doze off again.

The timid pin their hope on Russian backwardness and say, "that atomic explosion in Russia wasn't really the bomb."

While the pseudo-strategists grope in a smog of truth, half-truth and fantasy, time is running out. We stand in danger of war.

Too many seem unable to grasp the fact that we can lose a war. Their stock answers are: If it takes production, we'll outproduce the enemy. If it takes atomic bombs, we'll build bigger and better atomic bombs. If they hit us, we'll hit 'em harder.

These prevalent American beliefs are ingrained, basic but, unfortunately, stop short of an adequate answer to the sharp question sired by reality. They were incomplete by three things—Red imperialism, the global bomber and the atomic bomb.

This trio has forced on Americans a whole new concept of war. Today or any day, America itself can become a battleground. Civilians are the first targets in this new kind of war. If the enemy first smashes the home front, the military may have little left to fight for and less to fight with.

The Kremlin knows that our American home front must be knocked out quickly, if it is to be knocked out at all. For this reason, the first attack must be a grand slam using all the modern terror weapons.

Those who doubt the likelihood of war on the home front should heed what Representative Clarence Cannon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, had to say on the floor April 9. He said: "If war comes—which God forbid—it will be fought in this country as well as abroad." General Vandenberg (speaking for the air force) said that "in spite of all our radar fences, our walls of shipping, our networks of communcation and our clouds of interceptor planes, 70 per cent of the enemy planes carrying atomic bombs would get through. We might as well face that fact. Every center of production, every center of wealth and population and civilization would be devastated. We have only to look at the cities in Germany to see how the cities of America would look within one week after war started."

W. Stuart Symington, while chairman of NSRB, said "who can be a bigger fool than the fool who continues to fool himself, especially when his own existence is at stake." Those who will read the record must see where the 30 year pattern of Russian imperialism leads.

The retaliationists have an empty answer. To devastate Russian cities would not restore our own.

Unrealistic thinking has sapped our strength and robbed us of precious time. No American city is prepared to cope with an enmy attack. We must use our time wisely and well. There is no time for fatalism or fantasy.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Just received a nice letter from Mrs. Frances E. Borland Wilcox of "The Pines" Ridgebury, New York. She says she enjoyed the recent column on the 300th Anniversary and hopes that the committee puts out a fine historic brochure. She also always reads with interest the mention of the famous "Ulster County Gazette" popping up all over the country. On which she writes: "At Goshen, N. Y. Library, in the locked historical room, under glass, is an Ulster County Gazette, dated January 4th, 1800, Saturday's issue. Vol II, which tells of the death of George Washington 'departed this life' 14th of Dec. 1799."

It is strange, that in our own City of Kingston, where the famous Gazette was actually published there is no copy on display anywhere. If I do ask for it, it is pulled out of a desk drawer somewhere. I think the West Shore Hotel, so far as I know, is the only place that can boast of a copy, in a double glass frame. I have offered a copy to Capt. Andrew Hickey, president of the Kingston Library Assn. and the offer still stands, as long as they get a double glass frame for it, so that it can be displayed for all to examine. Of course, an authentic photo copy of the original can be obtained for a nominal sum from the Library of Congress in Washington, as I have mentioned in this column before.

Mrs. Wilcox owns a newspaper called "Goshen Repository" dated Dec. 1799. It is under glass, and also covers Gen. George Washington's funeral with black lines around it. She would like to dispose if it at this time.

Mrs. Wilcox also enclosed "Off the Chest" column written by Judithe G. Doty, of the Times Herald of Middletown, New York of April 28th, 1950 which covers our Gazette and reads in part: "A most fascinating newspaper came into our hands a few days ago, from Mrs. William F. Ehlers, Sr. of 230 Phillips street . . . this Ulster County Gazette, was printed by hand in old English type at Kingston, 150 years ago on January 4th."

Miss Doty further writes: "The four page publication was not concerned with the so-called "local news" of any sort. Its first page was devoted to the "Doings of American Congress, December 10th, 1799." These doings occurred 16 days before the newspaper was published. In the second of its 4-column page is a paragraph in bold print which reads: "By the arrival of the 'Factor' from Falmouth we are put in possession of London papers to the 20th of October, inclusive, from which we make the following elections."

"The 'elections' concerned news from the various battlefronts in Europe, where the Franco-Prussian war was in progress. . . . As for advertising. It is written in verse like 'Luther Andres and Co. have this day been opening goods both fresh and gay' etc., with note at botom of advertisement 'following articles will be received in payment; wheat, rye, buck-wheat, oats, corn, butter, flax, ashes and raw-hide. Cash will not be refused." Miss Doty certainly made a more detailed coverage of our Ulster County Gazette than I have seen so far in an average write-up.

Cease-Fire Stalling Is Now Being Tied to Forthcoming San Francisco Parley

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 31—Many assumptions seem to be upset by the erratic behavior of the Communists in the attempted negotiation of a cease-fire but new assumptions are beginning to take their place.

The latest idea which seems to have taken possession of official Washington is that the lull in the cease-fire parleys is somehow related to the forthcoming maneuvers at San Francisco, where the Russians are planning to make a grandstand play for propaganda reasons.

This theory is predicted on the belief that the Communists are trying to bargain for better terms and that, if they can accomplish something in that direction, they will give the go-ahead in Korea to a cease-fire.

But against this is the fact that the United States has served notice there will be no revision of the Japanese treaty and that the purpose of the San Francisco meeting is to arrange for all nations either to sign or fail to sign the document—there is no middle ground for negotiation.

For this reason, it would appear to be a far-fetched to tie the two things together—Korean negotiations and the San Francisco conference.

A more plausible assumption is that the Communists intend to prolong indefinitely the palaver about a cease-fire because they think the United Nations will not exert its maximum force on the ground and in the air anyway. Also the Communists have been led to believe, through the dismissal of General MacArthur, that the UN is interested primarily in "appeasement" and that, if the conferences are strung out, the UN finally will capitulate to Chinese Communist terms.

With India calling once more for admission of Red China to the UN and with a substantial segment of the British Labor party demanding that Red China be given that seat and American rearmament be slowed down, one wonders why anybody is puzzled over the delay in the cease-fire negotiations. As long as Moscow thinks the allies are weak and divided and that time is working for the Chinese Communist side of the controversy, there is no reason for the Reds to hurry.

The assumption in official quarters here for some time has been that the Chinese really wanted the armistice because they were being severely punished. The Communists, on the other hand, have held to the assumption that the UN is eager for the cease-fire to the point of willingness to accept after a bit of delay the 38th Parallel as the armistice line.

These assumptions are mistaken on both sides, but the only way to prove them baseless may be for the two sets of belligerents to seek by force to dispel illusions. That is why, so far as the UN is concerned, the bombing of Rashin, 17 miles from the Soviet border, by B-29's has real significance.

The results of the bombing now have been announced by the U. S. Air Force. The rail lines to Siberia were cut. Notwithstanding this damage, the main value of the raid was doubtless psychological—to impress both Russia and China with the fact that American air power may be stepped up and that perhaps targets even north of the border will be bombed if the Chinese-Russian air intervention is enlarged.

Whatever the basic reasons originally were for the start of negotiations for an armistice, they remain the same today, notwithstanding the charges and countercharges of truce violations. What were those seasons? Nobody here knows the Communist reasons but, if it was assumed they were beaten and in a hurry to end the fighting, the behavior of their envoys contradicts that belief.

Finally, it is reasoned by experienced observers of Far Eastern affairs, and particularly of the tactics of the Chinese Communists in the Civil War with the Nationalists, that the cease-fire talks are merely the prelude to a prolonged war of attrition. The United Nations is in for a long, long struggle that may be characterized by military offensives as well as intermittent peace parleys.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 29—Ralph Howard Alsup, a gunman with an impressive criminal record in Texas and Nevada, recently was retained as vice-president of the Nevada State Federation of Labor notwithstanding an "investigation" of his conduct by Charles Hughes, a personal representative of William Green, the president of the A.F. of L, shortly before the convention of the state federation, for the fourth time in a long criminal career, Alsup was arrested on a gun charge following an automobile accident in which his car skidded 245 feet in the face of oncoming traffic and landed upside down in a pit, 115 feet from the road.

A .38 revolver was found in the car. One witness said it was taken from Alsup's pocket as he lay unconscious. His companion in the wreck, Richard Hardy, a member of the Las Vegas plumbers' union, of which Alsup is financial secretary and business agent, said the gun belonged to him.

Hardy was unable to produce evidence that he had registered the gun with the county authorities. He was charged with a misdemeanor. Alsup was charged with driving while drunk and possession of an unregistered pistol after being convicted of a felony.

This felony was the wanton shooting of Ray Folsom, a member of the Painters' Union, in the Las Vegas union headquarters when the victim presented himself to the painters' business agent to make a meek appeal for a square deal for a fellow painter.

The fellow painter has been thrown off a job which was a Federal government project. The victim of the shooting claimed that the union painter was then superseded by a non-union man. Alsup slugged Folsom on the head with a gun-butt, and shot him in the side. Far from helping the rank-and-filer, an official of the victim's own union helped Alsup to escape.

This shooting happened on Dec. 3, 1949. Alsup has appealed to the State Supreme Court. Notwithstanding his conviction on an absurdly petty charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, he was re-elected president of the Central Labor Council of Clark county, which includes Las Vegas, on Aug. 24, 1950. In the same month he was "unanimously elected" secretary of this powerful council.

The shooting of Folsom was a felony and the Nevada law forbids the issuance of a gun permit to a convicted felon.

Folson was hounded out of town and later was hounded out of Alaska by the union racket, which is all-powerful there. He returned to his home in Oklahoma and it was difficult to persuade him to return to Las Vagas to testify against Alsup.

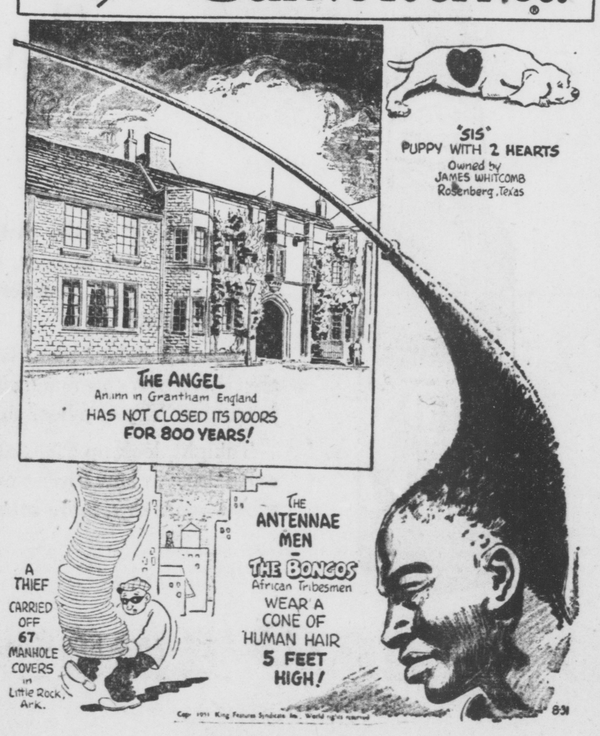

Alsup's criminal career began in Texas when he helped two prisoners to escape from a reformatory. His next exploit was the stick-up of a little east Texas town. About midnight April 20, 1932, he and two other gunmen got the drop on the town marshal and the mayor of Celina, and locked them in a boxcar. Then they encountered two citizens and put then in the boxcar, too. Then they robbed a store. Alsup's technique of slugging his victims on the head with a gun-butt was practiced on the marshal in that venture and the marshal was severely injured.

Alsup got concurrent terms of 25 years, 23 years, two years and two years, on four charges arising from this exploit. He served eight years and was granted a pardon under a peculiar technicality of Texas law.

During the war he drifted to Nevada and into the union racket. As boss of the Plumbers' Union and the Clark County Council in boom territory where millions of dollars of government contracts have been and are being worked, he was indicted by the federal grand jury for conspiring with a group of suppliers of plumbing and heating equipment to rig prices on both government jobs and private construction. His function was to

In America, speculation is constant on the issue whether we shall eventually have war with Russia. But in the Soviet Union there is no need for such guesswork. Russian communism considers itself in a state of war with Western capitalism now.

As a matter of fact, in the Red view, that warfare has been going on a long time. But its more acute phase may be said to have begun with the launching of the Cold War in 1947, when the Kremlin declined to take part in the Marshall Plan.

Obviously, we are speaking here of two different definitions of war. America clings to the traditional meaning—the open clash of armed forces. To the Russians, war is anything that weakens or harms or destroys the enemy. And the destruction need not be physical. Indeed, the Soviet leaders prefer it not to be.

So, in the Kremlin's understanding, war is: sabotaging the United Nations through endless obstructive tactics; promoting permanent international political chaos by blocking peace treaties for Austria, Germany and, if possible, Japan; using the device of the conference table to seek political ends that seem most easily attainable that way.

Undermining shaky middle-of-the-road governments by subversion; encouraging poverty and social turmoil on which communism feeds; bombarding the world with phony talk of peace, atomic energy control, disarmament; depicting the enemy as an aggressor, as an oppressor of the people, a devil masquerading as a saint.

In Moscow's terms, actual use of force is but one element in a war that can be fought on any one or more of the many fronts here suggested. But the important thing to remember is that in the Communist mind, all these fronts merge into one. The shooting might stop in Korea, but the struggle would go on undiminished. The combat would simply be switched to another arena.

We may not like the Russian definition of war. But if we seriously propose to stand off communism successfully, we had better understand that meaning and accept it. Because that is the kind of war we're in, and our denying it won't change the fact.

To cling to outmoded concepts of war as only armed struggle is to oversimplify our current dilemma and underestimate the Soviet enemy. He is relentless, probing always for weakness of whatever kind. As the thoughtful Committee for Economic Development recently put it, "the provocation which the Soviet rulers will always recognize is the provocation of opportunity."

In a brilliant analysis of the foreign problem, the CED acknowledges the true nature of Soviet warfare, and declares that its flexibility requires the West to organize a "comprehensive and balanced security program which leaves no breach wide enough to invite a Soviet thrust." In other words, we must be prepared to meet the Russian challenge in every field every day for as long as the Kremlin has the power to try imposing its will upon the free world.

Anything less than this will not win the war for free men. The mere absence of violence is no evidence of peace in this age. Those who anxiously await a cease-fire in Korea as a signal to relax our vigilance may mark that fact well. A relaxed West is a West one step closer to conquest by Russia. Our guard is up; we must keep it there.

A NICE DAY

One reason why the weatherman has trouble with his customers is that not everyone agrees on what is a nice day. If you want to go on a picnic, sunshine and a pleasant breeze make a nice day. If there is an engagement you'd rather not keep, or an outdoor chore you want to escape, pouring rain may make a nice day. A fresh breeze is just the thing for a lad with a kite to fly, but trouble for a gardener who wants to spray his roses.

Acknowledgment of these things does not mean that the day must invariably be regarded as fine. That would be as monotonous as if the weather itself never changed.

Every day is a nice day, for someone. But once in a while, when someone remarks that it's a fine day or a nasty one, it is good to have the privilege of disagreement.

NEHRU'S FALLACY

While Soviet Russia will send a delegation to the San Francisco conference on the Japanese treaty, India will boycott the conference. Russia will use sabotage as a weapon; India uses the boycott. Russia will speak long and loud; India will give the identical impression by silence.

Both countries have the same aim and purpose, namely, to seal off Asia from the United States, to close the entire continent of Asia, if they can manage it by diplomacy, intrigue, revolution or war, from European and American commerce, credits and friendship. The failure of the Harriman mission to Iran is part of this intrigue. The revolutionary movements in the Philippines, Burma and Malaya are phases of this program.

Nehru is a Socialist and has always publicly regarded himself as such. We know from Professor Karl A. Wittfogel's testimony before the McCarran Committee that in 1929 he attended a Russian-directed Communist conference at Frankfort-am-Main. Most of those who attended were then Communists, although we may assume that some were invited for the impression that such a conference would make on them. We know from this little tile in a grand mosaic of intrigue that as early as 1929, Nehru had close relations with international communism. From 1945 to this day, Nehru has in many official acts indicated that those relations still exist and are cordial.

Otto Friedman, in his book, "The Break-Up of Czech Democracy," makes an interesting point which, while applied to Czechoslovakia, fits current India. He wrote:

"The philosophers of Czechoslovak democracy failed, because they believed that they could preserve the democracy and independence of their own country, whilst supporting, through their foreign policy and propaganda, the expansion of Soviet communism in other countries. . . ."

Precisely that has been Nehru's diplomacy. He has been trying to purchase the independence of his country from Soviet Russia by acting as Russia's agent in the conquest, by diplomacy, of other Asiatic countries. That game has brought no benefit anywhere in Europe; there is no reason to believe that it can succeed anywhere in Asia.

One reason that India, as many countries in eastern Europe, fears Soviet Russia but does not fear America, is that since Teheran (1943), this country has appeased Russia. Therefore, countries which joined up with us, as Nationalist China and Iran did, could not know at what point the United States would desert its friends, for the sake of appeasement, as Chiang Kai-shek, as Singman Rhee, as the Shah of Persia have at times been deserted, even though eventually they may have been picked up again. Even our mixed and uncertain policy to Israel gives, to other countries, evidence of an undetermined policy, largely dominated by domestic considerations.

It is the opportunistic, day-by-day policy that our State Department has pursued since 1943 which gives cause to other nations to question the wisdom of risking their national existence on the exigencies of American activities in the international field.

India fears Soviet Russia and distrusts the United States. Therefore, India risks American displeasure while acting as the Russian broker. The fallacy of such a policy is obvious from the American standpoint; to an Indian it represents clever manipulation of two great powers by a small one.

Nehru can continue to pursue this course only as long as the United States does not get very angry over it. All we need to do is to adopt a pro-Pakistan attitude, withhold assistance and commercial favors from India and give them to Pakistan, and Nehru's world would collapse about his ears.

Unfortunately, such a realistic course will not be pursued by the State Department as long as Great Britain insists that Nehru should be placated lest he take India out of the British Commonwealth.

So, again, as with Nationalist China, American policy is being decided by what the British insist upon as their necessities. This country cannot long measure its conduct or control its attitudes on this basis, for while this nation has a continent to defend, Great Britain hopes to save the vestiges of empire trade. The two purposes are not identical; in fact, they are in conflict. Many of our difficulties with other countries are the result of this conflict of purpose. It prevents the United States from fixing its own policy and determining the nature of its relations to other nations.

It will be interesting to see how the British handle this situation at the forthcoming San Francisco conference.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HELPING THE CHILD

One of the discoveries in medicine of recent years is the great part the glands take in managing and directing the body processes. We know how the thyroid gland, manufacturing and pouring its juice or extract into the blood at a normal rate, balances the rate at which the body processes work.

We are familiar with the overactivity of the thyroid gland (goiter) causing the body processes to work too fast—underweight, rapid heart beat, rapid digestion. We are not, however, very familiar with the opposite condition of the thyroid gland, underactivity, in which all the processes work too slowly and thus cause overweight, slow heart beat, slow digestion. An individual with extreme underactivity of the thyroid gland is called a cretin—undersized, overweight, sluggish in his bodily movements and sluggish mentally.

In past years some physicians have been giving these cretins thyroid extract to speed up the body processes, reduce weight, and increase their bodily and mental development. Unfortunately, some of these physicians hesitated to give enough thyroid extract to obtain satisfactory results and the poor children have remained a great disappointment to themselves and, more particularly, to their families. Physicians fear severe reactions to gland substances in some patients.

That if a larger dose of thyroid extract were given, many of these cretins may improve sufficiently in appearance and ability that they can take their rightful place in the community, is stated by Dr. E. E. Brown in Northwest Medicine.

Dr. Brown presents the histories of two cretins, one a boy of 21 months and the other a girl aged 8 years, who made little mental and physical progress under a period of many months while being treated with ¼ and ½ grain dessicated thyroid substance. Remarkable changes took place within a few weeks when 3 or 4 grains were given daily. Despite toxic (poisonous) symptoms from the large doses, Dr. Brown states that the patient and physician must tolerate and expect these symptoms if satisfactory results are to be obtained.

The physician must take the responsibility of prescribing a large dose if he can see the child frequently, as this is the cretin's only chance to regain some at least of his lost mental and physical development.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Millard Caldwell, federal civil defense administrator.)

Washington—While time is running out, the cracker-box strategists fumble civil defense.

Some of them know that air power at its best can stop only 30 out of 100 attacking enemy bombers. Yet they insist that more air power is the sole answer to protecting the home front.

Others blow hot and cold. One day they think the situation is so hopeless that civil defense could do no good. The next day, the world situation looks brighter, so civil defense is not needed.

Still others insist that retaliation is the answer. What we can do to the enemy blinds them to what the enemy can do to us. They forget the trigger for our retaliation will be a mass atomic attack on our own cities.

Then, another group, the ostrich thinkers, insist that no nation would dare attack this country, because nobody ever has, and besides we're too strong.

Some, bored with crisis after crisis, wake up now and then, say "it can't happen here," and doze off again.

The timid pin their hope on Russian backwardness and say, "that atomic explosion in Russia wasn't really the bomb."

While the pseudo-strategists grope in a smog of truth, half-truth and fantasy, time is running out. We stand in danger of war.

Too many seem unable to grasp the fact that we can lose a war. Their stock answers are: If it takes production, we'll outproduce the enemy. If it takes atomic bombs, we'll build bigger and better atomic bombs. If they hit us, we'll hit 'em harder.

These prevalent American beliefs are ingrained, basic but, unfortunately, stop short of an adequate answer to the sharp question sired by reality. They were incomplete by three things—Red imperialism, the global bomber and the atomic bomb.

This trio has forced on Americans a whole new concept of war. Today or any day, America itself can become a battleground. Civilians are the first targets in this new kind of war. If the enemy first smashes the home front, the military may have little left to fight for and less to fight with.

The Kremlin knows that our American home front must be knocked out quickly, if it is to be knocked out at all. For this reason, the first attack must be a grand slam using all the modern terror weapons.

Those who doubt the likelihood of war on the home front should heed what Representative Clarence Cannon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, had to say on the floor April 9. He said: "If war comes—which God forbid—it will be fought in this country as well as abroad." General Vandenberg (speaking for the air force) said that "in spite of all our radar fences, our walls of shipping, our networks of communcation and our clouds of interceptor planes, 70 per cent of the enemy planes carrying atomic bombs would get through. We might as well face that fact. Every center of production, every center of wealth and population and civilization would be devastated. We have only to look at the cities in Germany to see how the cities of America would look within one week after war started."

W. Stuart Symington, while chairman of NSRB, said "who can be a bigger fool than the fool who continues to fool himself, especially when his own existence is at stake." Those who will read the record must see where the 30 year pattern of Russian imperialism leads.

The retaliationists have an empty answer. To devastate Russian cities would not restore our own.

Unrealistic thinking has sapped our strength and robbed us of precious time. No American city is prepared to cope with an enmy attack. We must use our time wisely and well. There is no time for fatalism or fantasy.

Cease-Fire Stalling Is Now Being Tied to Forthcoming San Francisco Parley

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 31—Many assumptions seem to be upset by the erratic behavior of the Communists in the attempted negotiation of a cease-fire but new assumptions are beginning to take their place.

The latest idea which seems to have taken possession of official Washington is that the lull in the cease-fire parleys is somehow related to the forthcoming maneuvers at San Francisco, where the Russians are planning to make a grandstand play for propaganda reasons.

This theory is predicted on the belief that the Communists are trying to bargain for better terms and that, if they can accomplish something in that direction, they will give the go-ahead in Korea to a cease-fire.

But against this is the fact that the United States has served notice there will be no revision of the Japanese treaty and that the purpose of the San Francisco meeting is to arrange for all nations either to sign or fail to sign the document—there is no middle ground for negotiation.

For this reason, it would appear to be a far-fetched to tie the two things together—Korean negotiations and the San Francisco conference.

A more plausible assumption is that the Communists intend to prolong indefinitely the palaver about a cease-fire because they think the United Nations will not exert its maximum force on the ground and in the air anyway. Also the Communists have been led to believe, through the dismissal of General MacArthur, that the UN is interested primarily in "appeasement" and that, if the conferences are strung out, the UN finally will capitulate to Chinese Communist terms.

With India calling once more for admission of Red China to the UN and with a substantial segment of the British Labor party demanding that Red China be given that seat and American rearmament be slowed down, one wonders why anybody is puzzled over the delay in the cease-fire negotiations. As long as Moscow thinks the allies are weak and divided and that time is working for the Chinese Communist side of the controversy, there is no reason for the Reds to hurry.

The assumption in official quarters here for some time has been that the Chinese really wanted the armistice because they were being severely punished. The Communists, on the other hand, have held to the assumption that the UN is eager for the cease-fire to the point of willingness to accept after a bit of delay the 38th Parallel as the armistice line.

These assumptions are mistaken on both sides, but the only way to prove them baseless may be for the two sets of belligerents to seek by force to dispel illusions. That is why, so far as the UN is concerned, the bombing of Rashin, 17 miles from the Soviet border, by B-29's has real significance.

The results of the bombing now have been announced by the U. S. Air Force. The rail lines to Siberia were cut. Notwithstanding this damage, the main value of the raid was doubtless psychological—to impress both Russia and China with the fact that American air power may be stepped up and that perhaps targets even north of the border will be bombed if the Chinese-Russian air intervention is enlarged.

Whatever the basic reasons originally were for the start of negotiations for an armistice, they remain the same today, notwithstanding the charges and counter-charges of truce violations. What were those reasons? Nobody here knows the Communist reasons but, if it was assumed they were beaten and in a hurry to end the fighting, the behavior of their envoys contradicts that belief.

Finally, it is reasoned by experienced observers of Far Eastern affairs, and particularly of the tactics of the Chinese Communists in the Civil War with the Nationalists, that the cease-fire talks are merely the prelude to a prolonged war of attrition. The United Nations is in for a long, long struggle that may be characterized by military offensives as well as intermittent peace parleys.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Just received a nice letter from Mrs. Frances E. Borland Wilcox of "The Pines" Ridgebury, New York. She says she enjoyed the recent column on the 300th Anniversary and hopes that the committee puts out a fine historic brochure. She also always reads with interest the mention of the famous "Ulster County Gazette" popping up all over the country. On which she writes: "At Goshen, N. Y. Library, in the locked historical room, under glass, is an Ulster County Gazette, dated January 4th, 1800, Saturday's issue. Vol II, which tells of the death of George Washington 'departed this life' 14th of Dec. 1799."

It is strange, that in our own City of Kingston, where the famous Gazette was actually published there is no copy on display anywhere. If I do ask for it, it is pulled out of a desk drawer somewhere. I think the West Shore Hotel, so far as I know, is the only place that can boast of a copy, in a double glass frame. I have offered a copy to Capt. Andrew Hickey, president of the Kingston Library Assn. and the offer still stands, as long as they get a double glass frame for it, so that it can be displayed for all to examine. Of course, an authentic photo copy of the original can be obtained for a nominal sum from the Library of Congress in Washington, as I have mentioned in this column before.

Mrs. Wilcox owns a newspaper called "Goshen Repository" dated Dec. 1799. It is under glass, and also covers Gen. George Washington's funeral with black lines around it. She would like to dispose if it at this time.

Mrs. Wilcox also enclosed "Off the Chest" column written by Judithe G. Doty, of the Times Herald of Middletown, New York of April 28th, 1950 which covers our Gazette and reads in part: "A most fascinating newspaper came into our hands a few days ago, from Mrs. William F. Ehlers, Sr. of 230 Phillips street . . . this Ulster County Gazette, was printed by hand in old English type at Kingston, 150 years ago on January 4th."

Miss Doty further writes: "The four page publication was not concerned with the so-called "local news" of any sort. Its first page was devoted to the "Doings of American Congress, December 10th, 1799." These doings occurred 16 days before the newspaper was published. In the second of its 4-column page is a paragraph in bold print which reads: "By the arrival of the 'Factor' from Falmouth we are put in possession of London papers to the 20th of October, inclusive, from which we make the following elections."

"The 'elections' concerned news from the various battlefronts in Europe, where the Franco-Prussian war was in progress. . . . As for advertising. It is written in verse like 'Luther Andres and Co. have this day been opening goods both fresh and gay' etc., with note at botom of advertisement 'following articles will be received in payment; wheat, rye, buck-wheat, oats, corn, butter, flax, ashes and raw-hide. Cash will not be refused." Miss Doty certainly made a more detailed coverage of our Ulster County Gazette than I have seen so far in an average write-up.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 29—Ralph Howard Alsup, a gunman with an impressive criminal record in Texas and Nevada, recently was retained as vice-president of the Nevada State Federation of Labor notwithstanding an "investigation" of his conduct by Charles Hughes, a personal representative of William Green, the president of the A.F. of L, shortly before the convention of the state federation, for the fourth time in a long criminal career. Alsup was arrested on a gun charge following an automobile accident in which his car skidded 245 feet in the face of oncoming traffic and landed upside down in a pit, 115 feet from the road.

A .38 revolver was found in the car. One witness said it was taken from Alsup's pocket as he lay unconscious. His companion in the wreck, Richard Hardy, a member of the Las Vegas plumbers' union, of which Alsup is financial secretary and business agent, said the gun belonged to him.

Hardy was unable to produce evidence that he had registered the gun with the county authorities. He was charged with a misdemeanor. Alsup was charged with driving while drunk and possession of an unregistered pistol after being convicted of a felony.

This felony was the wanton shooting of Ray Folsom, a member of the Painters' Union, in the Las Vegas union headquarters when the victim presented himself to the painters' business agent to make a meek appeal for a square deal for a fellow painter.

The fellow painter has been thrown off a job which was a Federal government project. The victim of the shooting claimed that the union painter was then superseded by a non-union man. Alsup slugged Folsom on the head with a gun-butt, and shot him in the side. Far from helping the rank-and-filer, an official of the victim's own union helped Alsup to escape.

This shooting happened on Dec. 3, 1949. Alsup has appealed to the State Supreme Court. Notwithstanding his conviction on an absurdly petty charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, he was re-elected president of the Central Labor Council of Clark county, which includes Las Vegas, on Aug. 24, 1950. In the same month he was "unanimously elected" secretary of this powerful council.

The shooting of Folsom was a felony and the Nevada law forbids the issuance of a gun permit to a convicted felon.

Folson was hounded out of town and later was hounded out of Alaska by the union racket, which is all-powerful there. He returned to his home in Oklahoma and it was difficult to persuade him to return to Las Vegas to testify against Alsup.

Alsup's criminal career began in Texas when he helped two prisoners to escape from a reformatory. His next exploit was the stick-up of a little east Texas town. About midnight April 20, 1932, he and two other gunmen got the drop on the town marshal and the mayor of Celina, and locked them in a boxcar. Then they encountered two citizens and put then in the boxcar, too. Then they robbed a store. Alsup's technique of slugging his victims on the head with a gun-butt was practiced on the marshal in that venture and the marshal was severely injured.

Alsup got concurrent terms of 25 years, 23 years, two years and two years, on four charges arising from this exploit. He served eight years and was granted a pardon under a peculiar technicality of Texas law.

During the war he drifted to Nevada and into the union racket. As boss of the Plumbers' Union and the Clark County Council in boom territory where millions of dollars of government contracts have been and are being worked, he was indicted by the federal grand jury for conspiring with a group of suppliers of plumbing and heating equipment to rig prices on both government jobs and private construction. His function was to

BABSON on BUSINESS

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 31 — Some days ago a spider built a small web in a corner of my piazza. Much against Mrs. Babson's wishes I insisted it must not be disturbed. For nearly two weeks that poor spider went without food. Finally, a small butterfly from my garden flew by and got his legs caught in the web. After an hour of desperate struggle, the butterfly gave up. The spider then got a good meal of fresh blood.

The butterfly had all my grounds to freely fly about; it had plenty to eat, and was very attractive. The poor spider could only crawl about; but it was a worker. It made wonderful webs. Now let me explain how this butterfly-spider episode illustrates a fundamental law of nature which all businessmen, especially Republicans and Isolationists, should recognize.

Take labor troubles, for example. Most employers, like the butterfly, can afford to travel anywhere; they need not worry about food or shelter; they can have almost everything they want. This is not true of most wageworkers. Hence, they build webs or unions to "bleed" their employers. Employers do not like labor unions any more than the butterflies like spider webs; but it's natural law that labor will use this and other methods to harass employers until the workers share more equally with the employers. Wise are those employers who recognize this and devise methods to benefit both wageworkers and owners.

Politics and World Peace

Butterflies are "Republicans" with property or privileges; while Democrats are largely wageworkers. Instinctively — by nature's law — there is a conflict and always will be. The Democrats are jealous of the Republicans and devise subsidies, minimum wages and high taxes to suck the blood out of the Republican butterflies. It is well for the Republicans to fight these subsidies and destroy the "webs." It, however, is foolish for them to get high blood pressure over any conflict between the "Haves" and the "Have-Nots." The conflict has been going on for generations and will continue for generations to come for the ultimate benefit of everyone.

It is too bad that we suffer from wars; but can there be world peace as long as one nation, like the United States, has a surplus of everything while other nations are starving? Communism is a spider's web to catch the butterflies. "Appeasement" is an unpleasant word, but it may be the best way to prevent Communist spiders from building webs! Women know that brushing down a cobweb does no good unless the spider is killed. But after brushing down the web, if a little sugar and dried blood is kept nearby, the spider will not build another web so long as the food lasts. Yet, the continued brushing down or killing the spider may be better. I don't know.

Have We Too Much Legislation?

Some will say that this law of nature is contrary to Jesus' teachings; but remember that when Jesus gave the Sermon-on-the-Mount he gave it to His disciples who were all in the same economic group, although neither butterflies nor spiders! In fact, the only time Jesus talked to a real "republican-employer-isolationist" was when He told the troubled rich young ruler to give all his goods to the poor and forget it. St. Paul supplemented this by commanding that ALL (rich and poor) should work or starve. Thus, can either side today base their positions on Bible teachings?

Perhaps I should not have written this column. I usually get into trouble when discussing political or social problems. But with the spider and butterfly conflict before my eyes, I could not resist the temptation! I feel, however, that there is need in this world for all living creatures and all groups of people. God also apparently planned the world to use conflict as the stairway by which civilization climbs. If so, we should not interfere too much with God's plans. Remember that we must now spray the trees and vegetables because our fathers shot the birds! We perhaps have brought all our troubles on ourserves. Let us reform ourselves from now on.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 31 — Some days ago a spider built a small web in a corner of my piazza. Much against Mrs. Babson's wishes I insisted it must not be disturbed. For nearly two weeks that poor spider went without food. Finally, a small butterfly from my garden flew by and got his legs caught in the web. After an hour of desperate struggle, the butterfly gave up. The spider then got a good meal of fresh blood.

The butterfly had all my grounds to freely fly about; it had plenty to eat, and was very attractive. The poor spider could only crawl about; but it was a worker. It made wonderful webs. Now let me explain how this butterfly-spider episode illustrates a fundamental law of nature which all businessmen, especially Republicans and Isolationists, should recognize.

Take labor troubles, for example. Most employers, like the butterfly, can afford to travel anywhere; they need not worry about food or shelter; they can have almost everything they want. This is not true of most wageworkers. Hence, they build webs or unions to "bleed" their employers. Employers do not like labor unions any more than the butterflies like spider webs; but it's natural law that labor will use this and other methods to harass employers until the workers share more equally with the employers. Wise are those employers who recognize this and devise methods to benefit both wageworkers and owners.

Politics and World Peace

Butterflies are "Republicans" with property or privileges; while Democrats are largely wageworkers. Instinctively — by nature's law — there is a conflict and always will be. The Democrats are jealous of the Republicans and devise subsidies, minimum wages and high taxes to suck the blood out of the Republican butterflies. It is well for the Republicans to fight these subsidies and destroy the "webs." It, however, is foolish for them to get high blood pressure over any conflict between the "Haves" and the "Have-Nots." The conflict has been going on for generations and will continue for generations to come for the ultimate benefit of everyone.

It is too bad that we suffer from wars; but can there be world peace as long as one nation, like the United States, has a surplus of everything while other nations are starving? Communism is a spider's web to catch the butterflies. "Appeasement" is an unpleasant word, but it may be the best way to prevent Communist spiders from building webs! Women know that brushing down a cobweb does no good unless the spider is killed. But after brushing down the web, if a little sugar and dried blood is kept nearby, the spider will not build another web so long as the food lasts. Yet, the continued brushing down or killing the spider may be better. I don't know.

Have We Too Much Legislation?

Some will say that this law of nature is contrary to Jesus' teachings; but remember that when Jesus gave the Sermon-on-the-Mount he gave it to His disciples who were all in the same economic group, although neither butterflies nor spiders! In fact, the only time Jesus talked to a real "republican-employer-isolationist" was when He told the troubled rich young ruler to give all his goods to the poor and forget it. St. Paul supplemented this by commanding that ALL (rich and poor) should work or starve. Thus, can either side today base their positions on Bible teachings?

Perhaps I should not have written this column. I usually get into trouble when discussing political or social problems. But with the spider and butterfly conflict before my eyes, I could not resist the temptation! I feel, however, that there is need in this world for all living creatures and all groups of people. God also apparently planned the world to use conflict as the stairway by which civilization climbs. If so, we should not interfere too much with God's plans. Remember that we must now spray the trees and vegetables because our fathers shot the birds! We perhaps have brought all our troubles on ourselves. Let us reform ourselves from now on.

pull labor off the job unless a member of the conspiracy was in the deal. This indictment has not yet been tried.

An affray with an unarmed citizen which led to the discovery of a gun in Alsup's car was a minor incident. Another minor incident was a night of slugging in which two police calls were received.

Last April, William Green sent to Las Vegas Charles Hughes, of Seattle, an organizer of the AFL to investigate a notorious situation. After several weeks, Phil Pearl, Green's press agent in Washington, announced that Alsup probably would be thrown out of his jobs as vice-president of the State Federation and president of the County Federation.

The state convention at Reno threw out the newspaper reporters, roughing up one of them. Alsup informed the delegates that Hughes had thrust upon him a written resignation demanding that he sign it. The proceedings were secret, but it is known that Alsup was not formally re-elected but simply retained in office.

A leading citizen of Las Vegas recently wrote, "It's a dam shame that we will have to wait until a human life is sacrificed in order to get rid of this criminal."

Alsup recently engaged as his lawyer George E. Franklin, Jr., who ran for senator against Pat McCarran and received $5,500 for his campaign from the Committee on National Affairs, a secretive New York political society under the management of Arthur J. Goldsmith, the plastic dragon of the Waldorf Tower. McCarran had opposed communism and fought for a conservative immigration law.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Aug. 30—Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dohler and two children are again at their home in the village center after spending three weeks with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. William Kohler of the Lomontville road.

No preaching service is scheduled for the Ashokan Methodist Church, September 2, the pastor, the Rev. M. H. Ryan being still on vacation. Services in the West Hurley and Glenford churches will be conducted by the Rev. C. J. Keil, superintendent of the Five Points Mission.

Harley Keator, former Brown's Station boy who is employed in Kingston, was a caller here Monday.

Ruby Moran of the Bronx is visiting her friend, Mrs. W. J. Loos at the latter's summer place along the Ridge road.

Dr. Shem Everett and wife of Freeland, Pa., are expected as Labor Day guests at the home of Chloey Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Sharwell. Doctor Everett, who was born and brought up in the old village of Shokan, comes here each year for the Olive old timers' annual reunion at Boiceville.

Ann Ingalls is still at the Kingston Hospital where she has been a patient since sustaining a broken leg bone in a fall at her Shokan home several weeks ago.

Lack of substantial rainfall, the numerous showers really didn't amount to much, has caused near drouth conditions here. Brooks and wells are very low though the situation is a little better than was the case last summer.

Martin Retting, World War 2 veteran, and former Shokan resident, is reported to be away on a trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Van Steenburgh and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sickler, recently visited their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Lepper, at Ballston Lake.

Eugene Loos, Inwood, L. I. resident and father of Mrs. James Carpenter, was taken ill with a heart attack early this week. The aged man is an occasional visitor to Shokan.

Shandaken residents calling here recently included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller of the Woodland Valley. Paul is postmaster at Woodland and his wife is a connoisseur and collector of antiques.

Robert D. Every, younger son of Kendall and Mary (Bell) Every, summer residents, is having a birthday next Tuesday. Robert was born in Kingston and now lives in Richmond Hill, L. I.

Grant Budd, who travels out of Poughkeepsie, was a caller here Wednesday.

The Rev. Richard Coons, pastor of the Reformed Church, will resume his pastoral duties next Sunday morning, Sept. 2, at the usual morning service. During his vacation the pastor and his wife enjoyed a week's stay at the Arlington Hotel, Ocean Grove, N. J., in company with the Rev. Mr. Coons' brother, the Rev. Foster Coons, and wife of Poughkeepsie. Later in the month, the local couple took a trip to Mrs. Coons' native county of Chenango where they visited at Guilford and Baldwin.

The neighboring village of West Hurley is staging a rapid growth in homes and population, a total of 26 houses having been built there this year according to recent report.

Robert and Chester Sharrocks of Richmond Hill are rounding out a two weeks vacation sojourn here. Robert attends the Newtown High School.

Isadore Werbalowsky, downtown Kingston businessman who died Tuesday, was fairly well known in Olive where he and his brother, Ben, have been buyers for many years. Older residents of this section recall that the boys' father, H. Werbalowsky, used to come to the mountain towns by horse and wagon, buying furs and other products, 60 years ago and more.

Harry Personeus and Harold Carlson, KHS graduate and student, respectively, motored to New York last week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Carlson. The lads spent two days viewing sights. They visited the Grand Central Terminal, the RCA Building and the recently completed Port Authority bus terminal in midtown Manhattan.

What does West discard on the ace of clubs? If he discards a spade, dummy's six of spades will win a trick. If he discards a heart, dummy gets rid of the six of spades, and now dummy wins the last two tricks with the king and ten of hearts.

Squeeze Works For This Player

BY OSWALD JACOBY

When does the average man work hardest? When he can hear the wolf scratching away at the door. It may sound silly, but that's true of the squeeze play also. It works when the wolf is at the door.

Let's take today's hand as an example. South has 11 tricks in top cards. If he takes them all right off the bat, the squeeze doesn't work. The wolf isn't close enough. West can save a spade and a heart as his last two cards, while East saves two clubs or perhaps a club and a heart.

There's a different story to tell if South gives away one trick during the early part of the play. Then he's really up against it, for he needs the rest of the tricks. And then the squeeze play works.

Let's see how it goes. South wins the first trick with the ace of spades and finesses dummy's nine of clubs. He expects to lose this trick, so he isn't disappointed when East wins with the ten of clubs.

East can't do anything spectcular, so let's suppose he returns a spade. Dummy wins with the queen of spades and cashes the king of clubs. Declarer then runs the four diamonds, discarding the deuce of hearts from his own hand. Then he gets to his hand with the king of spades to cash the ace of hearts and the ace of clubs.

When South leads the ace of clubs everybody has to come down to two cards. West and dummy have saved a spade and two hearts. East has saved two clubs and a heart. East has had to give up his heart-stopper in order to prevent South from winning a trick with the seven of clubs.

What does West discard on the ace of clubs? If he discards a spade, dummy's six of spades will win a trick. If he discards a heart, dummy gets rid of the six of spades, and now dummy wins the last two tricks with the king and ten of hearts.

The moral is quite clear: Every wolf must have his day.

STEPMOTHER'S PLACE AT WEDDING

A letter today says: "I am fortunate in being a beloved stepmother. However, I feel there are some privileges I am not entitled to at my stepdaughter's wedding; that for me to have them would not only belittle her own mother who will be present but would put me in a selfish light. The bride has lived with us more than she has her own mother. Her father is giving her the wedding in church and a reception he wants here at our ranch. I don't think the invitations to the church should read Mr. and Mrs. . . . even if followed by his daughter and not their daughter. I wonder what my place would be in church and where her own mother should be seated. And I'm not sure it is right for us to give a reception here because it rather excludes her mother who would hardly come to our home. Please help me."

Invitations must include your name and daughter designated as "his." And since your husband will rightfully occupy the front pew on the left and you seated beside him, the bride's mother will properly sit with the bridegroom's parents. For the bride's mother to be present at the reception which her former husband gives would be criticized by many. If, however, you all are willing to risk this criticism she may come to the reception, but she should not stand in the receiving line.

Wife's Initials Correct

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been told that on our twin bedspreads my initials should be used. But I think it would seem more suitable to have the one on my husband's bed marked with his initials. What is proper?

Answer: Correctly house linen is always marked with the wife's initials!

"And Family"

Dear Mrs. Post: On a wedding invitation from a friend it says "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe and Family." What I'd like to know is whether this means that our married children are invited with us. We have no family other than them.

Answer: In your case it certainly means "them."

Grange News

Automotive excise tax increases as proposed can mean a higher cost of living for everyone, according to a statement State Grange Master Henry D. Sherwood issued this week. The increases are contained in a revenue bill already passed by the House and pending in the Senate and include a 7-10 per cent rise in F.E.T. on new cars, a ½ cent increase in per gallon gasoline tax, and a boost from 5-8 per cent on trucks, truck-trailers and buses, automotive parts and accessories. The Grange, representing more than 143,000 members in New York state alone is absolutely opposed to these increasd taxes. "Our organization has taken this position," Mr. Sherwoods says, "because these taxes are discriminatory and unfair, and single out one form of transportation to bear a disproportionate share of the tax burden. These taxes on gasoline, trucks, parts and accessories would be immediately reflected in the farmer's cost of operation, forcing food costs up and resulting in a generally higher cost of living for everyone." We join many other organizations in opposing these tax increases, and have so informed U. S. Senators Ives and Lehman."

Grange sessions in Atlantic City this November are attracting an increasing number of New York members who wish to take the highest Seventh Degree of the Assembly of Demeter. Those wishing to make reservations are requested to write directly to Housing Bureau, 16 Central Pier, Atlantic City, N. J. Do not write State or National Grange. We have learned of one Grange, Hawleyton in Broome county, which has chartered a plane to fly them direct, returning the same evening, so that members can take advantage of the ceremonies. The fee is nominal when a group of 25 get together, and you might want to adopt the idea in your Grange.

Farmers and county farm leaders in New York state are refusing to be herded into the lock-step formation that the U. S. Dep't. of Agriculture is demanding in a county survey of agricultural policies. It is an encouraging sign, and the first courageous rebellion against the hand-out tactics that the administration has been using under the guise of aiding the farm problem. These thinly-veiled devices may work with the mid-west farmer, when the administration is looking for votes, as now, but the northeastern farm family unit is awakening to the fact he is paying too high a price in integrity, and his feed bill.

Rayon Now Has Wool Look

Fashions for career girls, from St. Louis designers, are rayon with the look of wool. Dress (left) with skirt and blouse in two fabrics for two-piece look is rayon worsted. A pumpkin-colored rayon gabardine dress (center) doubles as a coat when it's worn without belt. Suit (right) appears to be wool covert but is actually a rayon weave. All three are priced for youthful budgets.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York—(NEA) — The career girl, most especially the one with her very first job, has lots of places for her money this fall. She wants, certainly, to look good on the job, to be in fashion. She also wants to spend wisely, to get full returns on her money.

This, then, is the time to turn to rayon. For, now, rayon has the look of wool. It's the answer to money problems for the girl on a budget. Rayon is tailored as neatly as wool, can go wherever wool goes.

Rayon worsted, cut by Hal-Mar into a dress with a two-piece effect, is checked black-and-white. Sleeves and bodice are white, cuffs and collar are bound in the check. There's a neat side-buttoned vest that adds to the coordinated look.

A simple, classic rayon gabardine dress in pumpkin color is given deeply cut sleeves in a three-quarter length by designer Carole King. A flowing tie goes under a wide collar. There's a belt for this coat dress; without it, the dress becomes a lightweight coat in fact.

A rayon that appears to be gray wool covert is used by designer Mary Muffet for a three-piece suit. Waist is nipped in, hips are rounded. A small, detachable cape is reversible because it's lined in red jersey.

Miss Ruth Powers To Wed Tomorrow

New York, Aug. 30 (Special)—Miss Ruth Lillian Powers, daughter of Mrs. Daniel McAuley and the late Maurice D. Powers, formerly of Kingston, now of Massapequa, L. I., will not change her name when she marries Francis M. Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin W. Powers of Woodhaven, L. I., Saturday, September 1. The ceremony, to be performed in St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Woodhaven, will be followed by a reception at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn.

Miss Joan Whalen of Kingston will be maid of honor. Bridesmaids are to be Miss Carol Whalen of Kingston and Miss Eva Lubby of Long Island. Clare Prosser of Kingston will be flower girl.

The bride, attired in a gown of blush pink Chantilly lace, will carry white roses dipped in pink. Her honor attendant will wear a frock of rosewood shade and the bridesmaids will be dressed in pale aquamarine.

William Gairn of Brooklyn is to serve as best man and George O'Brien will usher.

The bride was graduated from Dominican Commercial High School. Mr. Powers, an alumnus of St. John's University, is a student in the School of Law of the same university.

After a motor trip through New England, the couple will live in Woodhaven, L. I.

It was made with a fitted bodice, Peter Pan collar, long fitted sleeves, and a train. In lieu of a veil she wore a Spanish mantilla of lace, and carried a white satin prayer book with a white orchid marker and streamers knotted with delphinium.

Mrs. John Fitzgerald of 18 Wynkoop Place was her sister's only attendant. She wore a turquoise ballerina-length gown of imported Spanish lace over taffeta and a turquoise lace picture hat. She carried bronze pompons on a prayer book covered with gold streamers.

Kent Hastings of 29 Park street, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushering were Joseph Hartmann of Port Ewen and James Tripp of Millbrook.

The wedding reception, which 65 guests attended, was held at Black Swan Lodge, Rifton.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hastings visited Maine and other New England states. They will make their home in Candor. For traveling, the bride wore a navy blue linen duster over a navy blue and white print dress, with accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Hastings is an alumna of the Academy of St. Ursula, and received her bachelor of science degree from Ithaca College with the class of '51. At Ithaca she was fraternally associated with Sigma Alpha Iota. Beginning in September, she will teach vocal music at Candor.

Mr. Hastings is a graduate of Kingston High School and is now studying at Ithaca College. He has served three years in the U. S. Navy.

STEPMOTHER'S PLACE AT WEDDING

A letter today says: "I am fortunate in being a beloved stepmother. However, I feel there are some privileges I am not entitled to at my stepdaughter's wedding; that for me to have them would not only belittle her own mother who will be present but would put me in a selfish light. The bride has lived with us more than she has her own mother. Her father is giving her the wedding in church and a reception he wants here at our ranch. I don't think the invitations to the church should read Mr. and Mrs. . . . even if followed by his daughter and not their daughter. I wonder what my place would be in church and where her own mother should be seated. And I'm not sure it is right for us to give a reception here because it rather excludes her mother who would hardly come to our home. Please help me."

Invitations must include your name and daughter designated as "his." And since your husband will rightfully occupy the front pew on the left and you seated beside him, the bride's mother will properly sit with the bridegroom's parents. For the bride's mother to be present at the reception which her former husband gives would be criticized by many. If, however, you all are willing to risk this criticism she may come to the reception, but she should not stand in the receiving line.

Wife's Initials Correct

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been told that on our twin bedspreads my initials should be used. But I think it would seem more suitable to have the one on my husband's bed marked with his initials. What is proper?

Answer: Correctly house linen is always marked with the wife's initials!

"And Family"

Dear Mrs. Post: On a wedding invitation from a friend it says "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe and Family." What I'd like to know is whether this means that our married children are invited with us. We have no family other than them.

Answer: In your case it certainly means "them."

Grange News

Automotive excise tax increases as proposed can mean a higher cost of living for everyone, according to a statement State Grange Master Henry D. Sherwood issued this week. The increases are contained in a revenue bill already passed by the House and pending in the Senate and include a 7-10 per cent rise in F.E.T. on new cars, a ½ cent increase in per gallon gasoline tax, and a boost from 5-8 per cent on trucks, truck-trailers and buses, automotive parts and accessories. The Grange, representing more than 143,000 members in New York state alone is absolutely opposed to these increasd taxes. "Our organization has taken this position," Mr. Sherwoods says, "because these taxes are discriminatory and unfair, and single out one form of transportation to bear a disproportionate share of the tax burden. These taxes on gasoline, trucks, parts and accessories would be immediately reflected in the farmer's cost of operation, forcing food costs up and resulting in a generally higher cost of living for everyone." We join many other organizations in opposing these tax increases, and have so informed U. S. Senators Ives and Lehman."

Grange sessions in Atlantic City this November are attracting an increasing number of New York members who wish to take the highest Seventh Degree of the Assembly of Demeter. Those wishing to make reservations are requested to write directly to Housing Bureau, 16 Central Pier, Atlantic City, N. J. Do not write State or National Grange. We have learned of one Grange, Hawleyton in Broome county, which has chartered a plane to fly them direct, returning the same evening, so that members can take advantage of the ceremonies. The fee is nominal when a group of 25 get together, and you might want to adopt the idea in your Grange.

Farmers and county farm leaders in New York state are refusing to be herded into the lock-step formation that the U. S. Dep't. of Agriculture is demanding in a county survey of agricultural policies. It is an encouraging sign, and the first courageous rebellion against the hand-out tactics that the administration has been using under the guise of aiding the farm problem. These thinly-veiled devices may work with the mid-west farmer, when the administration is looking for votes, as now, but the northeastern farm family unit is awakening to the fact he is paying too high a price in integrity, and his feed bill.

Rayon Now Has Wool Look

Fashions for career girls, from St. Louis designers, are rayon with the look of wool. Dress (left) with skirt and blouse in two fabrics for two-piece look is rayon worsted. A pumpkin-colored rayon gabardine dress (center) doubles as a coat when it's worn without belt. Suit (right) appears to be wool covert but is actually a rayon weave. All three are priced for youthful budgets.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York—(NEA) — The career girl, most especially the one with her very first job, has lots of places for her money this fall. She wants, certainly, to look good on the job, to be in fashion. She also wants to spend wisely, to get full returns on her money.

This, then, is the time to turn to rayon. For, now, rayon has the look of wool. It's the answer to money problems for the girl on a budget. Rayon is tailored as neatly as wool, can go wherever wool goes.

Rayon worsted, cut by Hal-Mar into a dress with a two-piece effect, is checked black-and-white. Sleeves and bodice are white, cuffs and collar are bound in the check. There's a neat side-buttoned vest that adds to the coordinated look.

A simple, classic rayon gabardine dress in pumpkin color is given deeply cut sleeves in a three-quarter length by designer Carole King. A flowing tie goes under a wide collar. There's a belt for this coat dress; without it, the dress becomes a lightweight coat in fact.

A rayon that appears to be gray wool covert is used by designer Mary Muffet for a three-piece suit. Waist is nipped in, hips are rounded. A small, detachable cape is reversible because it's lined in red jersey.

Miss Ruth Powers To Wed Tomorrow

New York, Aug. 30 (Special)—Miss Ruth Lillian Powers, daughter of Mrs. Daniel McAuley and the late Maurice D. Powers, formerly of Kingston, now of Massapequa, L. I., will not change her name when she marries Francis M. Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin W. Powers of Woodhaven, L. I., Saturday, September 1. The ceremony, to be performed in St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Woodhaven, will be followed by a reception at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn.

Miss Joan Whalen of Kingston will be maid of honor. Bridesmaids are to be Miss Carol Whalen of Kingston and Miss Eva Lubby of Long Island. Clare Prosser of Kingston will be flower girl.

The bride, attired in a gown of blush pink Chantilly lace, will carry white roses dipped in pink. Her honor attendant will wear a frock of rosewood shade and the bridesmaids will be dressed in pale aquamarine.

William Gairn of Brooklyn is to serve as best man and George O'Brien will usher.

The bride was graduated from Dominican Commercial High School. Mr. Powers, an alumnus of St. John's University, is a student in the School of Law of the same university.

After a motor trip through New England, the couple will live in Woodhaven, L. I.

Personal Notes

Mrs. Helen Johnson has returned to her home at 59 Andrew street after a two-week's vacation at Atlantic City, N. J., Riverhead and South Hampton, L. I.

Mrs. Maude Fessenden, formerly of Fessenden's Nursing Home, Washington avenue, is visiting Mrs. John Cummings of St. Benedict's Sanitarium, 120 Fair street.

Union Services End At St. James Sunday

St. James and the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will end their union services this Sunday with a musical program beginning at 11 a. m. Guest artist will be Engelbert Roentgen of Woodstock, cellist. C. Franklin Pierce, minister of music at St. James, will be at the organ, and three selections will be sung by a women's trio: Mrs. Ralph Harper, first soprano; Mrs. Donald Brown, second soprano; Mrs. Richard Talleur, contralto.

Mr. Pierce will open the program, to be held at St. James, with Prelude, Sonatina by Bach, followed by Cui's Orientle for organ and cello. Mr. Roentgen will also play an Adagio from the Second Cello Sonata by Mendelssohn and Sitt's Serenade.

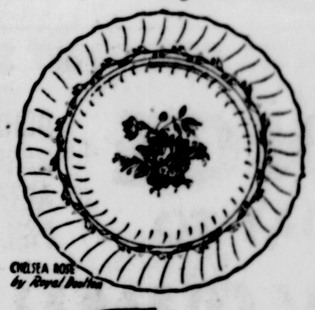

The trio will sing a response, Father Eternal, Franck; God Is a Spirit, Bennett, and He Shall Feed His Flock from Handel's Oratorio, The Messiah.

Crime Group Calls

an aroused American populace is "rising up to demand that police and prosecutors exert greater vigilance in tracking down and convicting the criminals who thrive under the protective umbrella of official corruption."

The committee suggested Congress grant $100,000 to help organize the council and recommended that government officials lend a hand in setting it up. Thereafter, the council would be expected to get its operating funds from charitable groups or private contributions.

President Truman would designate the council chairman from a group nominated by the council itself.

Other Weapons in Drive

As other weapons in the crusade against crime, the committee recommended:

1. A careful overhauling of state and local laws to make them more effective.

2. A high geared attack on the narcotics traffic, in which state and local officials would form a team with the federal authorities who now carry the bulk of the load.

The committee called for creation of a special squad in the Federal Narcotics Bureau to train local police in the specialized techniques of narcotics law enforcement.

The Narcotics Bureau staff itself should be at least doubled, the report said, declaring:

"Enforcement is the one point in the entire narcotics problem where results of a tangible nature will be evident immediately."

Not Enough Use

The committee charged state and federal authorities are not making enough use of gangsters' income tax reports to get evidence for crackdowns.

"Much valuable information on the activities of organized crime is available in state income tax returns," the report declared. "Special staffs should be organized to screen this material in order to provide * * * many leads."

Even the federal income tax return files, it said, "have not been widely relied upon" by state and local officials to whom they are available.

The committee endorsed again legislation pending in Congress to require gangsters to keep specially detailed tax reports which would, in effect, confess their misdeeds—and inflict felony punishments on evaders.

Official Sanction

In a chapter on "crime and corruption," the report declared:

"The same pattern of organized crime found in larger metropolitan areas exists in the medium cities, with similar evidence of offical sanction or protection.

"In some cases the protection is obtained by the payment of bribes to public officials, often on a regular basis pursuant to a carefully conceived system. In other cases the racketeering elements are substantial contributions to political campaigns of officials who can be relied upon to tolerate their activities.

"Sometimes these contributions will support a whole slate of officers in more than one political party, giving the racketeers virtual control of the governing body.

"Democracy vanishes in a captive community because the ordinary citizen for practical purposes has nothing to say about his government."

Honesty Can't Compete

The honest citizen "cannot expect to be able to compete," the report went on, "in many cities, large and small, (where) former bootleggers, gangsters and hoodlums" have captured political control.

Today's report was the fourth from the committee.

In its third report last May the committee devoted 26 pages to testimony of or relating to ex-Mayor O'Dwyer but today's final document contained only three and one-half pages. And nowhere in those pages was there a repetition of the direct criticism leveled at O'Dwyer before.

In May the committee had said neither O'Dwyer nor his appointees to New York jobs "took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, water-front, murder or bookmaking rackets." It added then: "In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of such rackets."

Senate Committee

tinues its review of the excises today (9 a. m. E.S.T.). It still has many House changes to consider although it has covered the levies which involved the big money.

The senators yesterday approved House decisions which would mean higher levies on automobiles, trucks, trailers, automotive parts and accessories, gasoline, liquor, beer, cigarettes, and a long list of electric, gas and oil appliances including dishwashers, clothes driers, power lawn mowers and motion picture projectors.

All told, the committee approved excise tax boosts totaling about $1,045,000,000.

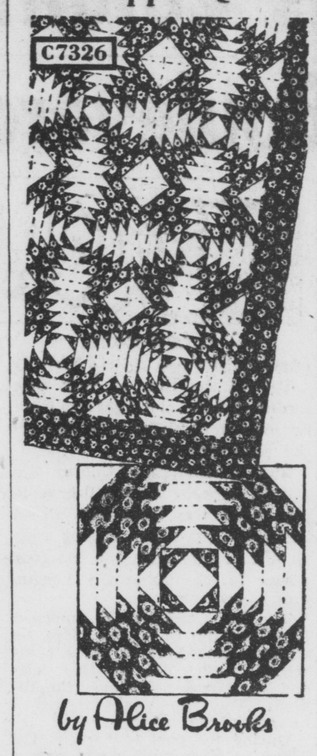

Red Koreans Move

twisted wreckage. Bombers went after railroad yards filled with loaded boxcars.

In Washington, the air force reported aerial photographs showed that a bombing raid last Saturday on Rashin, within 18 miles of Vladivistok, had cut North Korea's rail links with Vladivistok.

The 300-ton B-29 raid hit a rail center and port which the bombers had been banned from attacking earlier because of its nearness to Russian soil.

guests attended the community's peak summer social event — the Independence Day Ball at Tuxedo Park.

Mrs. Wrightsman also had been a guest at the Hope home when the jewels were taken. She left for Europe after the robbery and returned only Wednesday.

Pinnell said Mrs. Wrightsman positively identified the earrings set with 11 diamonds as part of her missing property.

Mrs. Wrightsman, described as a chic brunette in her early twenties, was one of a small parade of mystery witnesses who entered and left Pinnell's office before he called reporters in yesterday.

Pinnell said Mrs. Taylor did not deny or admit ownership of the ear clips.

He said her husband, Princeton graduate and former navy pilot, after an independent search, picked them out as a possession he didn't remember as rightfully Mrs. Taylor's.

Police said they would continue to question Mrs. Taylor on other jewelry robberies on Long Island's fashionable north shore.

Pinnell said Mrs. Taylor's replies thus far were "very evasive."

Mrs. Taylor has been free in $5,000 bail since her arrest Tuesday for the alleged theft of $10,000 worth of jewels from a school chum, Mrs. Margaret Welch of Syosset.

Mrs. Welch was reported to have asked that the prosecution of her friend be dropped.

But Taylor insisted: "We certainly will go to trial. There are a lot of ramifications in this case."

He said his wife was ill, and that she had suffered from pains in her head ever since she was shaken up in an automobile crash 10 months ago.

ity needed to carry out the direction.

The stabilization chief said he couldn't say just what day of what month the nation will begin to feel heavy inflationary pressures from the rearmament program.

But he asked: "Can anyone doubt that these pressures will hit us with a wallop when we are spending at the rate of more than $60,000,000,000 a year for defense? When 20 per cent of our production will be devoted to defense?"

With the House adjourned until Sept. 12, the administration was concentrating on the Senate committee in its drive to get the law changed. But Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) announced that no more hearings would be held until Sept. 10. And Congress is driving for final adjournment around the first of October.

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 31 (AP) —John Toucher, 56, warden of the Westchester county jail at East View, N. Y., collapsed in a physician's office here yesterday and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital. A hospital spokesman said that Toucher, on vacation at Milford, had suffered a coronary condition and that his condition today was "fair."

Crime Group Calls

an aroused American populace is "rising up to demand that police and prosecutors exert greater vigilance in tracking down and convicting the criminals who thrive under the protective umbrella of official corruption."

The committee suggested Congress grant $100,000 to help organize the council and recommended that government officials lend a hand in setting it up. Thereafter, the council would be expected to get its operating funds from charitable groups or private contributions.

President Truman would designate the council chairman from a group nominated by the council itself.

Other Weapons in Drive

As other weapons in the crusade against crime, the committee recommended:

1. A careful overhauling of state and local laws to make them more effective.

2. A high geared attack on the narcotics traffic, in which state and local officials would form a team with the federal authorities who now carry the bulk of the load.

The committee called for creation of a special squad in the Federal Narcotics Bureau to train local police in the specialized techniques of narcotics law enforcement.

The Narcotics Bureau staff itself should be at least doubled, the report said, declaring:

"Enforcement is the one point in the entire narcotics problem where results of a tangible nature will be evident immediately."

Not Enough Use

The committee charged state and federal authorities are not making enough use of gangsters' income tax reports to get evidence for crackdowns.

"Much valuable information on the activities of organized crime is available in state income tax returns," the report declared. "Special staffs should be organized to screen this material in order to provide * * * many leads."

Even the federal income tax return files, it said, "have not been widely relied upon" by state and local officials to whom they are available.

The committee endorsed again legislation pending in Congress to require gangsters to keep specially detailed tax reports which would, in effect, confess their misdeeds—and inflict felony punishments on evaders.

Official Sanction

In a chapter on "crime and corruption," the report declared:

"The same pattern of organized crime found in larger metropolitan areas exists in the medium cities, with similar evidence of offical sanction or protection.

"In some cases the protection is obtained by the payment of bribes to public officials, often on a regular basis pursuant to a carefully conceived system. In other cases the racketeering elements are substantial contributions to political campaigns of officials who can be relied upon to tolerate their activities.

"Sometimes these contributions will support a whole slate of officers in more than one political party, giving the racketeers virtual control of the governing body.

"Democracy vanishes in a captive community because the ordinary citizen for practical purposes has nothing to say about his government."

Honesty Can't Compete

The honest citizen "cannot expect to be able to compete," the report went on, "in many cities, large and small, (where) former bootleggers, gangsters and hoodlums" have captured political control.

Today's report was the fourth from the committee.

In its third report last May the committee devoted 26 pages to testimony of or relating to ex-Mayor O'Dwyer but today's final document contained only three and one-half pages. And nowhere in those pages was there a repetition of the direct criticism leveled at O'Dwyer before.

In May the committee had said neither O'Dwyer nor his appointees to New York jobs "took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, water-front, murder or bookmaking rackets." It added then: "In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of such rackets."

Senate Committee

tinues its review of the excises today (9 a. m. E.S.T.). It still has many House changes to consider although it has covered the levies which involved the big money.

The senators yesterday approved House decisions which would mean higher levies on automobiles, trucks, trailers, automotive parts and accessories, gasoline, liquor, beer, cigarettes, and a long list of electric, gas and oil appliances including dishwashers, clothes driers, power lawn mowers and motion picture projectors.

All told, the committee approved excise tax boosts totaling about $1,045,000,000.

twisted wreckage. Bombers went after railroad yards filled with loaded boxcars.

In Washington, the air force reported aerial photographs showed that a bombing raid last Saturday on Rashin, within 18 miles of Vladivistok, had cut North Korea's rail links with Vladivistok.

The 300-ton B-29 raid hit a rail center and port which the bombers had been banned from attacking earlier because of its nearness to Russian soil.

Jewel Probe . . .

guests attended the community's peak summer social event — the Independence Day Ball at Tuxedo Park.

Mrs. Wrightsman also had been a guest at the Hope home when the jewels were taken. She left for Europe after the robbery and returned only Wednesday.

Pinnell said Mrs. Wrightsman positively identified the earrings set with 11 diamonds as part of her missing property.

Mrs. Wrightsman, described as a chic brunette in her early twenties, was one of a small parade of mystery witnesses who entered and left Pinnell's office before he called reporters in yesterday.

Pinnell said Mrs. Taylor did not deny or admit ownership of the ear clips.

He said her husband, Princeton graduate and former navy pilot, after an independent search, picked them out as a possession he didn't remember as rightfully Mrs. Taylor's.

Police said they would continue to question Mrs. Taylor on other jewelry robberies on Long Island's fashionable north shore.

Pinnell said Mrs. Taylor's replies thus far were "very evasive."

Mrs. Taylor has been free in $5,000 bail since her arrest Tuesday for the alleged theft of $10,000 worth of jewels from a school chum, Mrs. Margaret Welch of Syosset.

Mrs. Welch was reported to have asked that the prosecution of her friend be dropped.

But Taylor insisted: "We certainly will go to trial. There are a lot of ramifications in this case."

He said his wife was ill, and that she had suffered from pains in her head ever since she was shaken up in an automobile crash 10 months ago.

Johnson Sees . . .

ity needed to carry out the direction.

The stabilization chief said he couldn't say just what day of what month the nation will begin to feel heavy inflationary pressures from the rearmament program.

But he asked: "Can anyone doubt that these pressures will hit us with a wallop when we are spending at the rate of more than $60,000,000,000 a year for defense? When 20 per cent of our production will be devoted to defense?"

With the House adjourned until Sept. 12, the administration was concentrating on the Senate committee in its drive to get the law changed. But Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) announced that no more hearings would be held until Sept. 10. And Congress is driving for final adjournment around the first of October.

Jail Warden Collapses

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 31 (AP)—John Toucher, 56, warden of the Westchester county jail at East View, N. Y., collapsed in a physician's office here yesterday and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital. A hospital spokesman said that Toucher, on vacation at Milford, had suffered a coronary condition and that his condition today was "fair."

Ostrander Blanks Rome, 4-0, as Colonials Climb Out of Cellar

Tierney Pitches Boulevards to Shaughnessy Finals

The Colonials climbed out of the Can-Am League cellar on the strength of Rick Ostrander's brilliant four-hit shutout of the Rome Colonels last night in Rome, as Manager Johnny Sosh's fingers completed a spectacular statistical chore against Buck Etchison's hapless sluggers.

While 2,001 Merchant Night fans looked on, Ostrander stopped the Colonels cold with six hits and did not permit a runner to reach third in a 4-0 triumph.

The victory gave the Colonials a record of 21 wins and 35 losses, against 20 and 35 for the home club.

Ostrander's shutout innings extended the Colonial streak against Rome to 25 consecutive scoreless innings in the three-game series which they swept by scores of 2-0, 4-1 and 4-0.

Third Shutout

It was Ostrander's third shutout in eight Can-Am decisions since he joined the Colonial staff and gave him a record of five wins and three defeats. He walked four and struck out three.

Scotty Tortoriello continued his late-season surge with four singles in five trips. Nick Marino belted a two-run single off Dave Bash in the fifth. The Colonials nicked the Rome hurler for 10 safeties.

Marino Key Man

Nick Marino figured in all four Kingston runs. He walked in the second, moved up on Dave Ocarr's infield out and scored the first run on Bill O'Brien's single to center. In the fourth, he coaxed a two-out pass and rode home on Ostrander's double to left.

Nick altered the script slightly in the fifth, rapping a two run single to right center after Tortoriello and Sosh walked and Sam Piacentino's advanced them a notch with a bunt.

Bill O'Brien came up with a nice peg in the second inning, nailing Joe Niro at third base after Lou Kramberg's fly to right field. Niro was credited with two of the Rome safeties.

The Colonials are scheduled for doubleheaders in Pittsfield tonight and Saturday, returning to municipal stadium for the season's finale on Sunday at 8 p. m.

Boxer Flores Is Still Critical

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—George Flores, critically injured in a knockout at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, held his own today while doctors debated whether a second brain operation is necessary.

The 20-year-old Brooklyn welterweight failed to regain complete consciousness after he was floored by Roger Donoghue of Yonkers, N. Y., in the eighth round of their bout, preceding the title fight between Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan and Billy Graham.

Dr. James Daniels, nerve surgeon, arrived at St. Clare's hospital shortly before midnight and conferred briefly with Mrs. Flores, who has been at the hospital for more than 24 hours.

Two spinal taps were taken during the day to determine whether there was any pressure on the young gladiator's brain.

Flores' condition remained "very critical."

White Plains Legion In National Finals

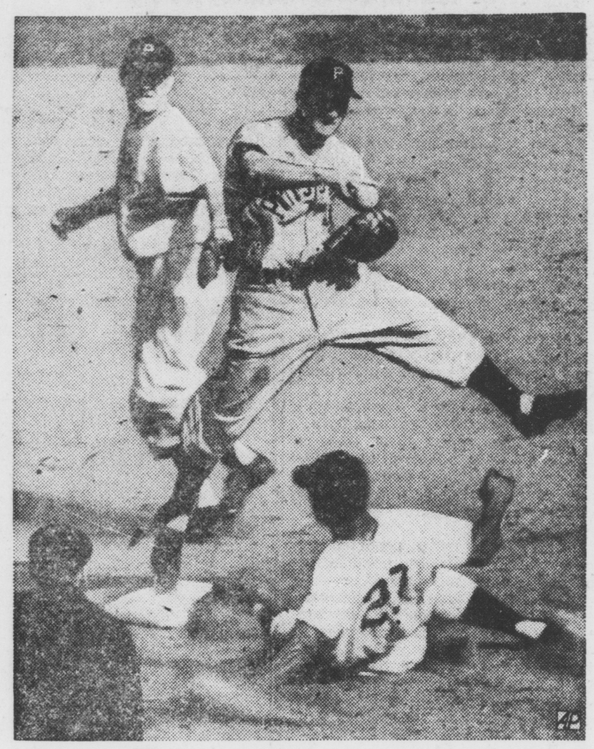

Washington, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—White Plains rapped out a 6 to 5 victory over Washington yesterday to win the sectional playoffs in the American Legion junior baseball tourney and the right to play in national finals at Detroit next month.

The big inning was the first when White Plains rolled up four runs on a single, three walks and a hit batter.

Jack Yvars, brother of the New York Giants catcher, playing in the outfield for White Plains, was injured when he crashed into the stands while running after a long hit. He was taken to a hospital for treatment of bruises on his thigh and shoulder. He was released after treatment.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., — Busanda ($8.20), daughter of War Admiral, won the Saratoga Cup at Saratoga.

STRICTLY ALL STRICKLAND

George Strickland, Pittsburgh Pirates shortstop, steps high and wide as he nips two New York Giant runners in ninth inning of Aug. 30 game at New York's Polo Grounds. Monte Irvin (20), Giant left fielder, is out going into second and Strickland whips ball to first to double Giant's first sacker Whitey Lockman who started action by grounding to Strickland. Dick Cole, Pirates' second baseman, backs up his teammate. The umpire is Frank Dascoli. The Pirates won, 10-9.

ANOTHER FELLER—Bob Feller gives his four-year-old son, Marty, the main idea, which is to get plenty of wood on the ball. Feller's father, Bill, started the Cleveland fireballer pitching when he was nine. (NEA)

Pollard's Debut

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—Fullback Al Pollard, the first ousted athlete in the West Point cribbing scandal to sign up for pro football, is expected to be in a New York Yanks' uniform tonight for an exhibition game with the Chicago Cardinals. Pollard yesterday said he had agreed to play with the Yanks.

A 100-lap new pleasure car race been scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. at the Rhinebeck Speedway in conjunction with the final day of the Dutchess County Fair. The regular Saturday night program features special attraction in which 30 Non-Fords will compete.

THE SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

This is the time of year that second division clubs get the most fun out of baseball—knocking off the contenders.

The Philadelphia Athletics are a good example. They will have to pay their way into the World Series but have been raising merry ned of late with the top four teams in the American League flag chase.

The A's, a sad seventh, knocked Cleveland out of a first place tie with the New York Yankees, beating the Tribe, 6-2, for their second straight decision over the Indians. The idle Yanks moved a half game out in front.

During the past few weeks the A's also have split eight games with the Yanks, divided six with the third place Boston Red Sox and took three out of four from Chicago's fourth place White Sox.

Rookie lefthander Morrie Martin, with help in the eighth from Carl Scheib, posted his tenth victory against four setbacks in downing the Indians yesterday.

Feller Loses

Bob Feller, gunning for his 21st victory, was tagged for his seventh defeat. The A's clipped Feller for a pair of runs in the second and added four more in the third. An error by outfielder Bob Kennedy with the bases loaded and two out permitted three of the four third-inning runs.

Martin was lifted in the eighth after he forced a run home by walking Luke Easter with the bases loaded. Scheib came on and got Al Rosen to bang into a double play to end the rally.

The third place Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 10-4, to move to within 4½ games of the Yanks. The Red Sox iced the game with four runs in the ninth. Chuck Stobbs started and gained credit for his ninth victory but Ellis Kinder saved the game by stopping the Tigers one hit over the final 3 2/3 innings.

Dodgers Seven Up

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated Cincinnati, 3-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates clipped the New York Giants, 10-9, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia, 6-3 and the Boston Braves swamped the Chicago Cubs, 16-2. The Dodgers' victory and the Giants' defeat moved Brooklyn seven games out in front.

Preacher Roe and Clyde King stopped the Reds on seven hits under the lights at Brooklyn. Roe left in the seventh when his pitching arm tightened but gained his 18th victory against two losses. Connie Ryan homered for the lone Red run in the first inning. The Dodgers tied the score against Ewell Blackwell in the fifth and won out in the sixth when Gil Hodges singled home Duke Snider from third.

Home runs featured the Giant-Pirates game at New York. Ralph Kiner won the game for the Bucs by belting his 37th homer in the ninth inning. Rookie Frank Thomas, Gus Bell and Pete Castiglione also homered for the Pirates while Willie Mays banged two and pinch-hitter Bill Rigney one for the Giants. Murry Dickson, working in relief, picked up his 18th victory for the tail-enders.

Stops Wiltwycks By 5-2 Count On 7-Hitter

Finals Set Tuesday With Jones Dairy

Bullet Bill Tierney pitched Boulevard Gulf into the finals of the City League's Shaughnessy playoff with a seven-hit 5 to 2 conquest of the powerful Wiltwyck Motor brigade Thursday at the Athletic Field.

The Gulfmen meet Jones Dairy in the opener of a best of five series on Tuesday, Sept. 4 at 6 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

With Wiltwycks' elimination was created the strange setup of both top teams in the loops being eliminated in the Shaughnessy. Jones Dairy had earlier disposed of Chez Emile, the 1951 pennant winners.

Tierney wasn't his usual overpowering self yesterday, but he had it in the clutches and pitched shutout ball until Johnny Minadeo tagged him for a two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh. He issued one walk and failed to fan a batter.

Shattan Excels

Boulevards slugged Gus McCormick for 10 hits, including "3 for 3" by Joe Shattan.

Tierney and McCormick were locked in a 1-0 duel at the end of three when Wiltwyck's defense fell apart at the seams and the Oilmen rushed four runs across on singles by Joe Shattan, Don Lyons and Bill Tierney, three errors and a stolen base.

In the Boulevard first, Schoonmaker singled with two out, Rienzo walked and Shattan's single scored Schoonmaker.

Messinger's Memos:

On the basis of earned runs, Wiltwycks held a 2-1 margin but since when don't they count all the runs. Danny Minadeo made a fine running catch on Hinkley to end Boulevards' threat in the second. Minadeo's homer was the sixth of the playoff and the 38th for the season. All pitchers will be fully rested for the Shaughnessy finals and it looks like Bill Tierney and Tommy Fisher in the opener.

Ostrander Blanks Rome, 4-0, as Colonials Climb Out of Cellar

The Colonials climbed out of the Can-Am League cellar on the strength of Rick Ostrander's brilliant four-hit shutout of the Rome Colonels last night in Rome, as Manager Johnny Sosh's fingers completed a spectacular statistical chore against Buck Etchison's hapless sluggers.

While 2,001 Merchant Night fans looked on, Ostrander stopped the Colonels cold with six hits and did not permit a runner to reach third in a 4-0 triumph.

The victory gave the Colonials a record of 21 wins and 35 losses, against 20 and 35 for the home club.

Ostrander's shutout innings extended the Colonial streak against Rome to 25 consecutive scoreless innings in the three-game series which they swept by scores of 2-0, 4-1 and 4-0.

Third Shutout

It was Ostrander's third shutout in eight Can-Am decisions since he joined the Colonial staff and gave him a record of five wins and three defeats. He walked four and struck out three.

Scotty Tortoriello continued his late-season surge with four singles in five trips. Nick Marino belted a two-run single off Dave Bash in the fifth. The Colonials nicked the Rome hurler for 10 safeties.

Marino Key Man

Nick Marino figured in all four Kingston runs. He walked in the second, moved up on Dave Ocarr's infield out and scored the first run on Bill O'Brien's single to center. In the fourth, he coaxed a two-out pass and rode home on Ostrander's double to left.

Nick altered the script slightly in the fifth, rapping a two run single to right center after Tortoriello and Sosh walked and Sam Piacentino's advanced them a notch with a bunt.

Bill O'Brien came up with a nice peg in the second inning, nailing Joe Niro at third base after Lou Kramberg's fly to right field. Niro was credited with two of the Rome safeties.

The Colonials are scheduled for doubleheaders in Pittsfield tonight and Saturday, returning to municipal stadium for the season's finale on Sunday at 8 p. m.

Boxer Flores Is Still Critical

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—George Flores, critically injured in a knockout at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, held his own today while doctors debated whether a second brain operation is necessary.

The 20-year-old Brooklyn welterweight failed to regain complete consciousness after he was floored by Roger Donoghue of Yonkers, N. Y., in the eighth round of their bout, preceding the title fight between Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan and Billy Graham.

Dr. James Daniels, nerve surgeon, arrived at St. Clare's hospital shortly before midnight and conferred briefly with Mrs. Flores, who has been at the hospital for more than 24 hours.

Two spinal taps were taken during the day to determine whether there was any pressure on the young gladiator's brain.

Flores' condition remained "very critical."

White Plains Legion In National Finals

Washington, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—White Plains rapped out a 6 to 5 victory over Washington yesterday to win the sectional playoffs in the American Legion junior baseball tourney and the right to play in national finals at Detroit next month.

The big inning was the first when White Plains rolled up four runs on a single, three walks and a hit batter.

Jack Yvars, brother of the New York Giants catcher, playing in the outfield for White Plains, was injured when he crashed into the stands while running after a long hit. He was taken to a hospital for treatment of bruises on his thigh and shoulder. He was released after treatment.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., — Busanda ($8.20), daughter of War Admiral, won the Saratoga Cup at Saratoga.

THE SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

This is the time of year that second division clubs get the most fun out of baseball—knocking off the contenders.

The Philadelphia Athletics are a good example. They will have to pay their way into the World Series but have been raising merry ned of late with the top four teams in the American League flag chase.

The A's a sad seventh, knocked Cleveland out of a first place tie with the New York Yankees, beating the Tribe, 6-2, for their second straight decision over the Indians. The idle Yanks moved a half game out in front.

During the past few weeks the A's also have split eight games with the Yanks, divided six with the third place Boston Red Sox and took three out of four from Chicago's fourth place White Sox.

Rookie lefthander Morrie Martin, with help in the eighth from Carl Scheib, posted his tenth victory against four setbacks in downing the Indians yesterday.

Feller Loses

Bob Feller, gunning for his 21st victory, was tagged for his seventh defeat. The A's clipped Feller for a pair of runs in the second and added four more in the third. An error by outfielder Bob Kennedy with the bases loaded and two out permitted three of the four third-inning runs.

Martin was lifted in the eighth after he forced a run home by walking Luke Easter with the bases loaded. Scheib came on and got Al Rosen to bang into a double play to end the rally.

The third place Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 10-4, to move to within 4½ games of the Yanks. The Red Sox iced the game with four runs in the ninth. Chuck Stobbs started and gained credit for his ninth victory but Ellis Kinder saved the game by stopping the Tigers one hit over the final 3 2/3 innings.

Dodgers Seven Up

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated Cincinnati, 3-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates clipped the New York Giants, 10-9, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia, 6-3 and the Boston Braves swamped the Chicago Cubs, 16-2. The Dodgers' victory and the Giants' defeat moved Brooklyn seven games out in front.

Preacher Roe and Clyde King stopped the Reds on seven hits under the lights at Brooklyn. Roe left in the seventh when his pitching arm tightened but gained his 18th victory against two losses. Connie Ryan homered for the lone Red run in the first inning. The Dodgers tied the score against Ewell Blackwell in the fifth and won out in the sixth when Gil Hodges singled home Duke Snider from third.

Home runs featured the Giant-Pirates game at New York. Ralph Kiner won the game for the Bucs by belting his 37th homer in the ninth inning. Rookie Frank Thomas, Gus Bell and Pete Castiglione also homered for the Pirates while Willie Mays banged two and pinch-hitter Bill Rigney one for the Giants. Murry Dickson, working in relief, picked up his 18th victory for the tail-enders.

Stops Wiltwycks By 5-2 Count On 7-Hitter

Finals Set Tuesday With Jones Dairy

Bullet Bill Tierney pitched Boulevard Gulf into the finals of the City League's Shaughnessy playoff with a seven-hit 5 to 2 conquest of the powerful Wiltwyck Motor brigade Thursday at the Athletic Field.

The Gulfmen meet Jones Dairy in the opener of a best of five series on Tuesday, Sept. 4 at 6 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

With Wiltwycks' elimination was created the strange setup of both top teams in the loops being eliminated in the Shaughnessy. Jones Dairy had earlier disposed of Chez Emile, the 1951 pennant winners.

Tierney wasn't his usual overpowering self yesterday, but he had it in the clutches and pitched shutout ball until Johnny Minadeo tagged him for a two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh. He issued one walk and failed to fan a batter.

Shattan Excels

Boulevards slugged Gus McCormick for 10 hits, including "3 for 3" by Joe Shattan.

Tierney and McCormick were locked in a 1-0 duel at the end of three when Wiltwyck's defense fell apart at the seams and the Oilmen rushed four runs across on singles by Joe Shattan, Don Lyons and Bill Tierney, three errors and a stolen base.

In the Boulevard first, Schoonmaker singled with two out, Rienzo walked and Shattan's single scored Schoonmaker.

Messinger's Memos:

On the basis of earned runs, Wiltwycks held a 2-1 margin but since when don't they count all the runs. Danny Minadeo made a fine running catch on Hinkley to end Boulevards' threat in the second. Minadeo's homer was the sixth of the playoff and the 28th for the season. All pitchers will be fully rested for the Shaughnessy finals and it looks like Bill Tierney and Tommy Fisher in the opener.

The evening program has the usual stock car races and non-Fords. Stunt racing is on tap for both afternoon and night programs.

Ann Bunselmeyer, winner of the Long Island classic last year, is expected to take part in the pleasure car race in the afternoon.

VEECK VANITIES OF 1951—With midgets tossed out of the game, here is how Bill Veeck entertains Browns' fans in St. Louis in lieu of a baseball club. Comedian-contortionist Max Patkin, coaching at first base, signals with semaphore flags, begs on bended knee for a hit, passes out cold as the batter loses the race with the ball. (NEA)

Babich, Ex-Fordham Athletic Great Scheduled on Saturday's Mat Show

Is Professor-Coach At Cardinal Farley

One of professional wrestling's outstanding intellectuals with a solid collegiate athletic background is George "Bobo" Babich, late of Fordham Uuniversity, who is featured in the semi-final bout on Saturday's card at the municipal auditorium.

Babich, a standout football, basketball and baseball player in the late 30s at Fordham, is a professor in social science and history and head football coach at Cardinal Farley Military Academy in Rhinecliff.

While at Fordham he was rated some shucks as a hitter and third baseman and played several games of "bootleg" ball with the pre-war Kingston Recreations. He was signed by the late Jack Robins, who was then a member of the advisory board of the Recreations.

Babich went as far as the International League in organized ball before he abandoned the game in favor of a career in education.

Lord Spears, the clever English thespian, who impressed local fans in his debut a couple weeks ago, will seek to teach Babich the facts of life in wrestling.

Gorky-Riker Return

The main event features a return bout between Ivan Gorky, the sensational Russian Mad Man, and Sailor Bob Riker, of Norfolk, Va. Their first bout here ended in a near riot. It was adjudged a draw.

Other pairings list Abe Coleman, the Jewish heavyweight champion, against Mickey Cortelano, of New York, and Mike Kilonis, the Greek Playboy, against Ali Hassin, new Turkish importation.

KHS Candidates To Get Uniforms

Some fifty Kingston High School varsity football players and candidates are expected to receive uniforms at the high school on Saturday and Labor Day.

The hours are from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 p. m. Coach Bill Burke, who has been vacationing at Cape Cod, is expected to arrive in Kingston over the week-end and set up plans for the first workout.

The high school football season opens Saturday, Sept. 22, in Schenectady against powerful Mont Pleasant.

Patty Upsets Aussies' Rose

Forrest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—There is just a chance that, with all the experting which has gone on during the week, the deep thinkers have overlooked the player who will be handed the cup when the National tennis championships come to their unhurried end on Monday.

The thought struck suddenly yesterday while watching Budge Patty, a tall, wavy-haired fellow originally out of Los Angeles, put the boots to young Mervyn Rose of Australia in the fourth round of play. Rose, seeded third among the foreigners, has been considered very hot stuff lately, possibly the Aussies' second best, but he didn't stand a chance.

Patty beat him, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5, with the score of the two middle sets accurately reflecting the American's superiority. The brand of tennis Patty played could win the title, particularly if Dick Savitt fails to recover completely from the leg infection which prevented his playing yesterday.

Some might have forgotten that Patty won the Wimbledon crown a year ago. Any player who wins Wimbledon, any year, is good. Right after Wimbledon, in one of his first tournaments on this side, Patty badly twisted his right ankle, and was out for the remainder of the season.

Now he looks ready. His ankle still is taped, but appears, not to bother him. He has all the strokes, including maybe the best volleying game of any amateur. His return of the big services is superb. And all week, when he wasn't playing, Patty has been sitting patiently for hours under the marquee and dissecting the games of his potential opponents in the latter rounds.

Can-Am Roundup

A 10-run inning didn't help the Amsterdam Rugmakers in the Canadian-American League pennant race, but it was a big boost in the battle for third place.

The Ruggers scored 10 runs in the fifth inning at Amsterdam last night en route to a 16-2 romp over the Pittsfield Electrics, and moved a full game ahead of fourth-place Gloversville in the showdown for playoff berths. The Glovers won the first game of a twin bill at Oneonta, 8-5, but lost the second game, 4-1.

At Rome the Kingston Colonials quit the cellar by beating the Colonels, 4-0.

At Amsterdam, the Ruggers staged their big uprising on only three singles—and Pittsfield generosity. The Electrics, who lost their last mathematical chance for the flag when Oneonta won a doubleheader Wednesday night, contributed seven walks, two errors and a wild pitch to the marathon fifth frame.

Lou Paz, Amsterdam righthander, won his 10th game against five losses. He was nicked for a home run by Pittsfield's Lou Palmisiano in the first inning.

The Glovers won the opener but Oneonta's new champions took the nightcap when Joe Ross hurled his 18th victory. He has lost six. A fifth-inning triple by the Glovers' Pete Caniglia spoiled the shut out.

Righthander Rick Ostrander pitched Kingston into fifth place by stopping Rome on six hits. Scotty Tortoriello got four hits in five trips for the Colonials.

All Right Home, But Not in Ring

Boston, Aug. 31 (AP) — The main bout of the park department's novice boxing show didn't come off last night because the mother of the finalists—twins—wouldn't let them fight.

When Joe and Vic Gallucci, 13, reached the finals in the 75-pound class, Mrs. Phyllis Gallucci, their mother, decided she didn't want to see her offspring battle each other.

And Victor Gallucci, the papa, agreed.

"They do enough fighting around the house anyway," he said.

New Angle Put Into Boyle Story

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—A new angle was injected yesterday into the discussion of relations between William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and the American Lithofold Company of St. Louis.

Senator Williams (R.-Del.) said in a Senate speech that the printing firm obtained "two rather lucrative contracts" after it hired Boyle and two former government officials—James P. Finnegan, former collector of internal revenue at St. Louis and James B. E. Olson, former alcohol tax supervisor in New York.

A Senate subcommittee already has ordered an inquiry into the circumstances of $565,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans to American Lithofold, and Boyle's relations with the firm. The loans have been repaid.

Disclaims Influence

Boyle has said he welcomes an inquiry. He has said that he did legal work for the firm before he became a full-time employe of the national committee, but that he had nothing to do with the RFC loans.

Williams said American Lithofold was awarded a government printing office contract of $63,373 in 1948, but that by 1951 it had been increased to $668,031.

The senator added there was a "a corresponding increase" in government purchases from the American Carbon Paper Company, which he described as a subsidiary of American Lithofold.

"It is rather interesting to note," Williams said, "that after these three men were put on the payroll, two rather lucrative government contracts were awarded to the concern by agencies which had turned them down prior to the hiring of these three men."

The Weather Bureau of the United States has 2500 observing stations in the western states.

The electric utility industry during 1950, used more than 90,000,000 tons of bituminous coal.

Owners Are Stunned

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 31 (AP)—German owners of foreign property seized by the allies during the war were stunned today by news they have no chance of getting it back. The western occupation powers—Britain, France and the U. S.—approved a new law yesterday giving clear title to persons who purchased former German assets from allied custodians of enemy property. Germans had hoped for restoration of their former property in allied countries.

Babich, Ex-Fordham Athletic Great Scheduled on Saturday's Mat Show

Is Professor-Coach At Cardinal Farley

One of professional wrestling's outstanding intellectuals with a solid collegiate athletic background is George "Bobo" Babich, late of Fordham Uuniversity, who is featured in the semi-final bout on Saturday's card at the municipal auditorium.

Babich, a standout football, basketball and baseball player in the late 30s at Fordham, is a professor in social science and history and head football coach at Cardinal Farley Military Academy in Rhinecliff.

While at Fordham he was rated some shucks as a hitter and third baseman and played several games of "bootleg" ball with the pre-war Kingston Recreations. He was signed by the late Jack Robins, who was then a member of the advisory board of the Recreations.

Babich went as far as the International League in organized ball before he abandoned the game in favor of a career in education.

Lord Spears, the clever English thespian, who impressed local fans in his debut a couple weeks ago, will seek to teach Babich the facts of life in wrestling.

Gorky-Riker Return

The main event features a return bout between Ivan Gorky, the sensational Russian Mad Man, and Sailor Bob Riker, of Norfolk, Va. Their first bout here ended in a near riot. It was adjudged a draw.

Other pairings list Abe Coleman, the Jewish heavyweight champion, against Mickey Cortelano, of New York, and Mike Kilonis, the Greek Playboy, against Ali Hassin, new Turkish importation.

KHS Candidates To Get Uniforms

Some fifty Kingston High School varsity football players and candidates are expected to receive uniforms at the high school on Saturday and Labor Day.

The hours are from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 p. m. Coach Bill Burke, who has been vacationing at Cape Cod, is expected to arrive in Kingston over the week-end and set up plans for the first workout.

The high school football season opens Saturday, Sept. 22, in Schenectady against powerful Mont Pleasant.

Patty Upsets Aussies' Rose

Forrest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—There is just a chance that, with all the experting which has gone on during the week, the deep thinkers have overlooked the player who will be handed the cup when the National tennis championships come to their unhurried end on Monday.

The thought struck suddenly yesterday while watching Budge Patty, a tall, wavy-haired fellow originally out of Los Angeles, put the boots to young Mervyn Rose of Australia in the fourth round of play. Rose, seeded third among the foreigners, has been considered very hot stuff lately, possibly the Aussies' second best, but he didn't stand a chance.

Patty beat him, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5, with the score of the two middle sets accurately reflecting the American's superiority. The brand of tennis Patty played could win the title, particularly if Dick Savitt fails to recover completely from the leg infection which prevented his playing yesterday.

Some might have forgotten that Patty won the Wimbledon crown a year ago. Any player who wins Wimbledon, any year, is good. Right after Wimbledon, in one of his first tournaments on this side, Patty badly twisted his right ankle, and was out for the remainder of the season.

Now he looks ready. His ankle still is taped, but appears, not to bother him. He has all the strokes, including maybe the best volleying game of any amateur. His return of the big services is superb. And all week, when he wasn't playing, Patty has been sitting patiently for hours under the marquee and dissecting the games of his potential opponents in the latter rounds.

New Angle Put Into Boyle Story

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—A new angle was injected yesterday into the discussion of relations between William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and the American Lithofold Company of St. Louis.

Senator Williams (R.-Del.) said in a Senate speech that the printing firm obtained "two rather lucrative contracts" after it hired Boyle and two former government officials—James P. A Senate subcommittee already has ordered an inquiry into the circumstances of $565,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans to American Lithofold, and Boyle's relations with the firm. The loans have been repaid.

Shawangunk Will Get $1,000 for Rec Work

An additional allocation of $1,000 in state aid for recreation projects in Ulster county was announced today by the New York State Youth Commission.

The announcement said that the Town of Shawangunk will receive $1,000 toward its program of facilities to include the town park, Athletic Field, Tillson Lake and a swimming recreation program.

According to plans, the Town of Shawangunk plans to spend $2,000 during the year with a $1,000 reimbursement from the commission.

The agency responsible for the conduct of the program is the recreation committee headed by the Rev. Richard Hine, Jr., chairman. Edward Dudley is director of recreation.

But It's Not Art

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Post office trial examiners have decided that the pin-up pictures for sale by night club entertainer Evelyn West aren't art. They said in an initial decision handed down yesterday after five months' study that Miss West was offering lewd pictures for sale through the mail. The decision went to Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson, who must decide what to do about it. Miss West has contended that the pictures—22 for $1—were offered to people "interested in art in its various phases." The Los Angeles entertainer once insured her figure for $500,000.

But It's Not Art

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—Post office trial examiners have decided that the pin-up pictures for sale by night club entertainer Evelyn West aren't art. They said in an initial decision handed down yesterday after five months' study that Miss West was offering lewd pictures for sale through the mail. The decision went to Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson, who must decide what to do about it. Miss West has contended that the pictures—22 for $1—were offered to people "interested in art in its various phases." The Los Angeles entertainer once insured her figure for $500,000.

Gaffney Appointed To Police Force

Kenneth W. Gaffney, 29, of 49 Manor Place was appointed patrolman by the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday.

Gaffney, who is scheduled to start on the force tomorrow, was third on the list of eligibility submitted by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. The others on the list were Philip McGowan, 21 Presidents Place and Douglas V. Eckert, 78 Hunter street.

A native of Kingston, the new patrolman was graduated from local schools. He had been employed as a mason's helper. A veteran of World War 2, he had been in the service for four years and had served with the U. S. Marines in the Pacific theatre.

Promotions Are Due

The appointment fills a vacancy left by the recent death of Patrolman Joseph Fallon. Another patrolman vacancy will exist when department promotions are made following promotional civil service examinations in November. A lieutenant is to be made captain to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of Captain William T. Roedell, a sergeant will move up to a lieutenancy, and a patrolman will become a sergeant.

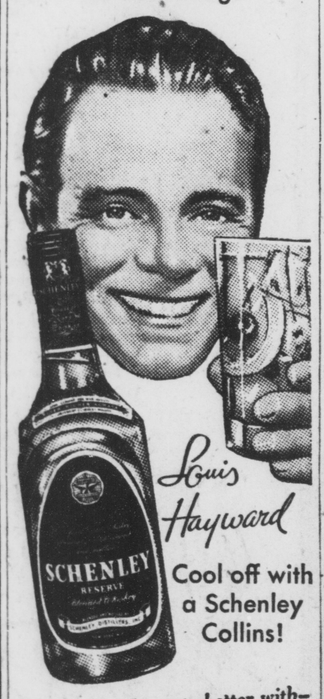

The report of Police Chief Raymond VanBuren for July showed 35 persons injured in 20 accidents in the city. Of these 12 were injured in collisions involving two motor vehicles, five involved pedestrians, one a bicycle, one overturned in a roadway and another ran off a road.

Of 79 arrests made, the report showed, 44 were for public intoxication, 11 for disorderly conduct, nine for violations of the city traffic code, three for third degree assault, seven for violations of the vehicle and traffic law, and four for driving while intoxicated.

Gamble Is Taken on Japan Giving Lasting Friendship

(This is the second of two articles on the occupation of Japan. They were written by Russell Brines, former chief of AP's Tokyo bureau, who has just returned to the United States after serving continuously in Japan since the end of the Pacific war.)

By RUSSELL BRINES

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The United States and her allies are gambling that Japan will remain a steadfast friend.

The "soft" peace treaty to be signed next week in San Francisco is in part a calculated risk. So is the military and financial support of the United States has pledged to give free Japan.

Instead of being kept in weakness or bondage, the island nation will be helped and encouraged to become a first class power again.

There are two reasons: The United Nations need strong friends in Asia; and a repressive peace probably would stir the proud Japanese to vengeance.

Might Use Strength

The danger is that Japan might use this strength, sometime in the future, to renew her dreams of ruling Asia or might be compelled by circumstances to deliver it to the Communist bloc.

At present, the risk is slight. Japanese leaders and most of their people are strongly pro-American and anti-Communist. The country is economically and politically stable.

But for years Japan will be plagued by forces more explosive than those which turned her to imperialistic war. She will be under constant pressure from the Communist mainland. And the dense population she cannot now feed is growing alarmingly.

Most Japanese, thirsting for independence, do not realize that with freedom their troubles will actually begin.

Japan will not become officially free until the peace treaty is formally ratified. This is expected to take between six and nine months after the San Francisco conference.

It will be much longer before the Japanese can stand entirely on their own feet.

Will Give Protection

American forces will protect them for an indefinite period, under a mutual aid agreement to be signed in San Francisco. This will mean U. S. air and naval bases and ground force installations.

In time, the Japanese will be expected to provide their own defensive ground troops, supported if necessary by U. S. air and naval power.

Rearmament remains a touchy question in Japan. Many Japanese do not want their militarists to come back. Their Oriental neighbors, still bitter from the Pacific war, are equally distrustful.

In the end, some form of Japanese army appears inevitable. American officials say it could not be turned toward aggression without air and naval power which Japan is too poor to rebuild.

The Japanese also look to the United States for continued help in rebuilding their economy.

American dollars have kept Japanese industry rolling throughout the occupation. At one time $1,000,000 a day was spent for food and vital raw materials. During the past year a total of $187,000,00 was appropriated to fill the gap between Japan's export earnings and her import requirements.

Would Cut Out Dole

The official hope is that this dole can be eliminated. Instead, the Japanese will be paid for the installations and facilities used by American security forces. These were cost-free under the occupation.

Japanese factories filled $330,000,000 worth of special contracts during the first year of the Korean war. They are capable of further business in continued war contracts, in rehabilitating Korea or in helping to industrialize such areas as southeast Asia.

But for 50 years continental China and Manchuria supplied both the markets and the cheap raw materials needed by Japanese industry. Sometime, Japan may have to trade extensively with this area, regardless of its politics, in order to survive.

Behind this is the pyramiding pressure of an unsolved population problem. The total now is 84,000,000 people, crammed in an area the size of California. Improved health measures have contributed to an annual increase of 1,400,000.

These forces may eventually determine Japan's future and her allegiance.

Gaffney Appointed To Police Force

Kenneth W. Gaffney, 29, of 49 Manor Place was appointed patrolman by the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday.

Gaffney, who is scheduled to start on the force tomorrow, was third on the list of eligibility submitted by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. The others on the list were Philip McGowan, 21 Presidents Place and Douglas V. Eckert, 78 Hunter street.

A native of Kingston, the new patrolman was graduated from local schools. He had been employed as a mason's helper. A veteran of World War 2, he had been in the service for four years and had served with the U. S. Marines in the Pacific theatre.

Promotions Are Due

The appointment fills a vacancy left by the recent death of Patrolman Joseph Fallon. Another patrolman vacancy will exist when department promotions are made following promotional civil service examinations in November. A lieutenant is to be made captain to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of Captain William T. Roedell, a sergeant will move up to a lieutenancy, and a patrolman will become a sergeant.

The report of Police Chief Raymond VanBuren for July showed 35 persons injured in 20 accidents in the city. Of these 12 were injured in collisions involving two motor vehicles, five involved pedestrians, one a bicycle, one overturned in a roadway and another ran off a road.

Of 79 arrests made, the report showed, 44 were for public intoxication, 11 for disorderly conduct, nine for violations of the city traffic code, three for third degree assault, seven for violations of the vehicle and traffic law, and four for driving while intoxicated.
